"Peter Pan," the story of the boy who would not grow up and lives in Never Never Land, has been seen by millions for over 70 years. The family classic is now touring for the first time as a full-length live musical spectacular in major arenas with Cathy Rigby as Peter Pan and will appear April 2-7 at the Hersheypark Arena for nine performances.

Peter Pan is presented by NBC Entertainment Corporation. The Hersheypark Arena presentation of Peter Pan contains all the elements of fantasy, fun, and familiar music that the public is demanding in wholesome family touring attractions.

Producer-director Michel Grilikhes says the show will differ from the Broadway versions in that it will be multi-dimensional.

Props are elaborate, the cast is larger than any of the Broadway versions, with extensive "flying" using new techniques.

All the action will be entirely live on the floor of the Hersheypark Arena. The massive props are built to full scale and the effect is much like watching theatre-

Cathy Rigby, now touring in the musical production "Peter Pan," is pictured above in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia winning silver medal on the balance beam. The "darling of international gymnastics" has won more awards than any other American female gymnast. She will appear in the musical at Hersheypark Arena April 2-7.
