Chester Area Youth Attend PAFC Institute

Twelve outstanding boys and girls have been named winners in the Cooperative Business Education Program sponsored by the Chester-Delaware Co-op Council and will represent this area at the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Institute at Shippensburg State College, July 7-11.

Those chosen to attend the Institute as first year scholars were Don Nafziger, Michael Randolph and Sarah Weinstock, all of Phoenixville; Thomas Mowrer, Spring City; and Tina Kulp, Pottstown. Also selected were Robert Fenza, Springfield; Kathy Shaw, Downingtown; Janet Hutchison, West Grove; Kevin King, Cochranville; and Wesley McAllister, Oxford. Ruth Friedkofer, Spring City; and Holly Scheib, Phoenixville, were named agribusiness explorers who will return to the Institute as second-year scholars.

Winners were selected on the basis of their knowledge of the business enterprise system in America, the cooperative way of doing business, and on activities of the participants identifying them with school, community, church, and youth organizations.

These young leaders will be accompanied to Shippensburg by John H. Schwartz, Assistant County Agricultural Agent who will act as chaperone and resource person for the delegation.

The institute program is designed to teach youth more about the business enterprise system in the United States, to help them in planning their future by pointing out career possibilities in agribusiness, and provide opportunities for individual leadership development.

Approximately 250 young adults, representing the best of over 4,000 participants in the annual PAFC youth education program will attend the four-day event. The Institute is a joint effort of the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives, local co-op Councils, and the College of Agriculture of The Pennsylvania State Univer.

A total of 43 local boys and girls took part in this year's cooperative program sponsored by the Chester-Delaware Co-op Council.

National Holstein Sale a Success

67 head of cows were offered to buyers, at the National Holstein Sale that took place on June 13th in Mullica Hill, New Jersey.

R. A. Backus, Inc., reported that the total of the sale reached $606,400, the highest recorded total in some years.

Almost 2000 people from 18 states in the country saw the highlight of the sale when a cow from Poverty Hollow Farms in New England sold for $70,000. to the Londonderry Farms in Michigan.

Charles Myers of Lancaster County was the second highest buyer of the sale. Among his purchases for the Black and White Holstein Farm, Myers bought a cow from Sam Long also of Lancaster County for $20,500.

One of the Myer's heifers was sold to the Apache Farms in Michigan for $15,500.

Myers reported that some of the cows he had purchased at the sale would be offered during his Anniversary Sale to be held July 19th.

Other buyers from the area included Robert Kauffman, Clarence Stauffer, James High and J. Martin.

For A Tart Lift

Cherries give meat a tart lift to cheer the family. Braise a pot-roast in drained cherry juice (canned) and add the cherries just in time to heat through. Or, heat a can of cherry pie filling to pour over sausage and pan cakes for Sunday brunch.

THINK BIG

We're big where it counts. So you can be too.

Big in capability. Dari-Kool Bou-Matic milking systems are built to match the total milking needs of the big-herd dairyman. Fast milking. Easy on udders. Rugged construction. And dependable. Isn't that what you need too? No matter how many cows you milk?

Big on udder health. Bou-Matic systems help keep cows in the milking line with a truly balanced system: proper vacuum, inflations and pulsation. Reduces udder irritation; increases milk production.

Big on result-oriented features. Like electronically-timed twin-pulsation. Equalizes milking, prevents over-milking of front quarters.

Big on parlor choice and size. From herringbone, to the Bou-Matic Carousel and Automated Polygon. With low-level pipelines. There's a system set-up for where you are. And where you want to be in total milk production.

Big on service too. That's the professional specialty of your Bou-Matic dealer. He knows how to help you make more profit from your dairy operation. No matter how big you are. Or how big you think. Just ask him.
