

Grange Supports Cattle Feeders

A bill pending in Congress to provide aid for cattle feeders hit by the depressed market is being supported in principle by the National Grange.

John W. Scott, national Grange master, told almost 500 Pennsylvania Grangers that the organization will support the bill to provide federal loans to cattle feeders, but will ask Congress to limit loans to "true farmers, those who derive 51 percent or more of their income from farming."

"We will oppose loaning federal funds to others and will ask Congress specifically to keep the money out of the hands of speculators," Scott added. Speaking at the banquet that climaxed the 51st annual leadership school of the state Grange here, Scott also warned that a strip mine bill pending in Congress is too restrictive. "In its present form," he said, "it would virtually close down all strip mines across the nation and would not help the energy situation."

He also urged that land use programs should be developed at the local level, and not at the national level.

In recommendations to the Pennsylvania Grange members and leaders, Scott urged development of good legislative programs at the local level to deal with local issues and sound communication efforts to "let your community know what the Grange is doing."

A new award—Pomona, or county, lecturer-of-the-year—was introduced at the closing session of the school. The recipient was Mrs. Ruth Mease, of Reading RD2, Berks County. The second local lecturer-of-the-year award went to Mrs. Barbara Shull, of Newport RD2, Perry County. The presentation was made by Miss Mildred M. Shultz of Somerset, state Grange lecturer.

Winners in the Mid-Atlantic public speaking contest were Mrs. Alleene Hoopengardner, of Hancock

RD1, Md., in the 19-35 age group and Marcia Provance, 17, of Grove City, in the 14-18 age category. They will represent the region in the national Grange competition at Sacramento, Calif. in November. Runners-up in the 19-35 bracket were Miss Phyllis Gleason, of Adams, N. Y., and David Correll, of Allentown.
