

Timely Reminders

Add Life To Children's Clothes
Some simple and easy clothes-care rules for parent and child can help lengthen the life of clothes and stretch the wardrobe budget. Mrs.

Ruth Ann Wilson, Extension clothing and textiles specialist at The Pennsylvania State University, offers some suggestions. Never store clothes that are not clean. Teach children to put away their garments properly after each wearing and keep a sharp eye out for small mending jobs. Check labels for washing instructions and follow them. When laundering, separate the lightly soiled items from those that are heavily soiled and light colors from dark.

When To Refinish Furniture
The reasons why you want to recondition or refinish a piece of furniture are often personal, sometimes sentimental, according to Mrs. Helen Puskar, Extension home furnishings specialist at The Pennsylvania State University. Pieces may give you pleasure and be valuable to you, even though they have little value as a saleable item. Restoration is worth while if the piece fits in your home, and if the natural beauty of the wood is pleasing to you.

Finances For The Young Finances plague even the young, but Extension family life specialists at The Pennsylvania State University suggest that you can fairly determine how much allowance your child should get. Have him keep a record of the money he's spent during a two-or-three-week period. Then after adding up his expenses, add a small amount for him to spend on extras. Remember, if you plan every cent of his allowance, you'll deprive him of the practice and pleasure of spending according to his own judgment.
