

Junior Cooking Edition

Home on the Range

Recipes from Junior Cooks all over the State have been coming to our attention. Some of them have been quite novel and interesting. This week we are sharing more of their recipes for desserts.

Development of Egg Products Industry
A dried egg industry began to develop in about 1878, but with the Panama Canal opening, imports from China hindered its growth. The frozen egg industry started after 1890 and grew throughout this century. In the last 20 years liquid egg production has doubled. Bulk tank truck shipments are routine. Almost a billion pounds of egg products are produced annually in the U.S.
