48—Lancaster Farming, Saturday, April 12, 1975

[Continued from Page 46]

equal rights. We have lost the need to have the traditional masculine figure for a large number of our jobs, and our definition of masculinity is changing." There are new types of relationships being built between husband and wife, not resting on the traditional marriage contract, but on the emotional and psychological support each partner needs, Van Horn said.

This new role for father is beginning right in the delivery room, in many cases, which in Van Horn's opinion is a high point in a family in terms of emotion. The husband is ummediately saying to the wife, by his presence, that he will be very much a part of child rearing. Van Horn points out, "Not too many decades ago the father was very much a part of birth. Then we moved into the sterile hospitals. We became so sterile that we sterilized Dad out of the whole birth process." This attitude is now changing, along with the idea that child rearing is a mother's job.

Sometimes the great variety of information available to parents today serves only to confuse, and "too often parents feel guilty" about what they did or did not do for their child. Van Horn advises, "We probably did the very best things we could do under that set of circumstances. But tomorrow can be better. We are not the same person we were last week, and we shouldn't feel guilt about the past, but learn and make tomorrow better.'

He said. "Each parent has to establish a pattern of being able to evaluable information in terms of our own children and determine what works best for them.'

In his prepared remarks Van Horn told the mothers, "Don't expect miracles." But perhaps his most comforting words to confused and anxious parents of young children were, "It is surprising how much of child rearing is common sense."

Money Management

Printed as a public service ward. That way, the first Accountants.

at the back and work for-

by the Lancaster Farming thing you'll read is the and the Pennsylvania In- auditor's report, which tells stitute of Certified Public you right away if there are any variations in the In reading annual reports, statement you should know it's often a good idea to start about.

We Specialize In •Aerial Ladder Barn Painting •Specialists In High Work Church Steeples Restored Sandblasting F. R. BEHM & SONS, Contractors

P.O Box 652 - Lititz, PA Phone 626-8528 OR J. S. GERBERICH, Palmyra

Sales Representative, Phone $38-1825

I would like a FREE ESTIMATE

Society 11 at the Farm and Five minute talks were given by several members

concerning trips they had

The next meeting will be held April 24 at the Chestnut

Society 28

Society of Farm Women 28

held their monthly meeting

at the home of Mrs. Gordon

Mellinger. Co-hostess was

Mrs. J. Robert Hess.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Lloyd Denlinger. The

program for the evening was

The group donated $50 to the County Project. A donation of $10 was also

given to the Easter Seal held April 24, 7:15 p.m., at Stauffers of Kissel Hill. The group will make 3-D pic-

XXX

The average man has five senses: touch, taste, sight, smell, and hearing. The successful man has two more: horse and common.

XXX

. Folks with a lot of brass

are seldom polished.

The next meeting will be a white elephant sale.

Society.

tures.

Home Center April 12.

been on recently.

Level Church House.

Society 7

Farm Women Society 7 met recently at the Leacock Presbyterian Church in Paradise. A luncheon was served to Society 24 and the county officers.

Devotions were led by Mrs. William Buyers, reading Psalms 37 giving comments on each verse.

Society 21 entertained Society 7 on April 10 at the Quarryville United Methodist Church.

Speaker for the program was Lester Keene who gave an illustrated talk on his collection of lamps, dating back to 1860.

The next meeting will be held April 12 at the home of Mrs. Walter Denlinger. The program will be in charge of Pequea Valley Exchange student Miss Ranveig Antonsen of Norway.

Society 10

Farm Women Society 10 met at the home of Mrs. Glenn Breidenstine, Hunsicker Rd., Lancaster recently with Mrs. Iva Buckwalter as hostess.

The president, Mrs. Jay Habecker conducted the business meeting which was opened by devotions read by Ida Kunkle.

Responses to the roll call reyealed the members serve in many offices in their churches. civil and volunteer organizations.

Home Economist; Mrs. Doris Thomas, gave many interesting hints on ways to maintain saftey in the home along with food preservation.

Society 24 will be en-tertaining Society 10 at the Farm and Home Center on April 23. Members of Society 24 will be going to the Farm Women Convention on April 30.

Society 11

Society of Farm Women 11 met at the home of Mrs. Anna Herr, Kirkwood for their March meeting. The president Mrs. Loren Bucher conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Florence Rhoads gave the devotions. The society plans to sew at Methodist Church the making articles for Conestoga View. A donation was given to Easter Seals. Society 35 will entertain

BEWARE

WARMER WEATHER BRINGS MENACING TERMITES YOUR HOUSE MAY BE THEIR TARGET. GET THEM FIRST.

Is your farm sufficiently insured? With our low rates and broad coverage, you can't afford not to carry an adequate amount of insurance to protect against today's inflated values. See our agent in your area.

> ROBERT C. STIRLING, 20 N. MAIN ST., MANHEIM, PA.

STRAUSSER INS. AGENCY, 424 WINDSOR ST., HAMBURG, PA.

A. J. THOME, 559 E. HIGH ST., ELIZABETHTOWN. PA

