Pa. Ag Dept. Plans Moisture Meter Tests

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's proposed regulation on standardizing grain moisture tests is open to suggestions for revisions until May 9, according to Secretary Jim McHale.

The proposed regulation was discussed at a meeting April 24 at the Agriculture Building, attended by grain dealers, manufacturers, farmers and representatives of the National Bureau of Standards.

McHale explained that the department's Bureau of Weights and Measures for the past year has surveyed grain moisture meters in use in the Commonwealth. Farmers' grain prices are modified by the moisture content of his commodity as determined by meter readings at the mill.

"We have long felt that farmers in many cases were unhappy about the penalties in their payments because excess moisture was found in their grains," said McHale.

In response to alleged discrepancies in readings taken by farmers and those taken at the mill, the Bureau of Weights and Measures last year began setting up a monitoring program for moisture meters. In line with this, the bureau began developing state standard meters for comparison with commercial meters.

At the April 24 meeting, discussions concerned different methods of determining moisture content, tolerances of agreement between commercial meters and state standards and the conditions of dispensing with unacceptable meters.

How are you going to make money on hogs this year?

You can't turn your back on the cost of corn. You can't feed more than you have. You can't change poor quality grain into good. And we're all stuck with general inflation.

So what can you do to manage high production costs? Your Wayne Feed Dealer has solid answers from the Wayne Hog Care-Van, Update '75.

Take your sow herd. You can squeeze out more income with higher conception rates and larger litters. And Wayne Litter Gain in sow feed can help, both ways.

To start your pigs fast and keep them moving, use the latest Tail Curler feeds. The name may sound old, but the results keep getting better.

In finishing hogs, your dealer has a brand new kind of economics for you. New Gro-Pork Grain Mate, for example, can stretch your poor corn supply. Or, Wayne complete feeds could be a better bargain than corn plus supplement.

So sharpen your pencil and give your Wayne Dealer a call. Or, write Allied Mills, Inc., 110 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60606.

Your Wayne Dealer cares.
That's what makes the difference.

Wayne Sow Feed with Litter Gain can boost conception rates with gilts (as much as 23% in hot weather). Research shows sows farrow more pigs too.
