

4-H program receives honor

The 4-H Wheels program, a pre-driver education course for teens, will receive an Award of Honor from the National Safety Council at the council's National Safety Congress Sept. 30 in Chicago.

The award is the highest recognition given by the council for an innovative safety program undertaken by a youth-serving organization.

Wheels was developed jointly by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee. Each of the three groups will receive a citation plaque at special presentation ceremonies during the youth sessions of the congress at Chicago's Midland Hotel.

Designed to promote safety consciousness among young persons 14-16, Wheels is part of the national 4-H automotive program sponsored by Firestone and conducted by the Extension Service. Enrollment in the course is open to all teens without charge through the local county extension office.

Educational materials in the Wheels program include color slides, scripts, tape cassettes, teaching outlines, and member activity sheets geared to pre-drivers and beginning drivers. An organizational guide and promotional materials are also included in the Wheels kit.

The 12-session course is supervised on the local level by community volunteers and covers such topics as the driver's responsibilities, causes and cures of automobile accidents, how
