

Farm

(Continued from Page 10)

brought on by labor unions. What pays for the flow of foreign goods into this country? Our soybeans, wheat and corn. American farmers are making it possible for cheaper commercial items to be brought in. He is, in a way, subsidizing the economy. That's no sin. The farmer is efficient and he deserves a lot of credit for it.

But the farmer's efficiency also boomerangs. That's especially true for the dairymen and cattle feeders.

They're competing for American grain on the one hand, paying higher prices alongside of highly subsidized foreign products. We're expected to buy high and sell low. A quick check in the grocery store's canned meat and dairy products section will tell you what I mean.

That's been the case for years, but when Russia only enters deals and treaties for its own benefit and once that purpose is fulfilled it ignores the agreement. It only took the Soviets a couple of days to tell the West it didn't feel bound by the recent Helsinki agreements in which Ford granted the Soviet Union just about everything they asked for while we got nothing but a piece of paper.

As a member of a family which fled a communist nation because of a total lack of freedom — where citizens are shot in the back for wanting to leave the country, where private ownership is illegal, where God is officially denied, and where government rules by instilling fear — I wouldn't want to be the farmer who feeds the East German border guard who fills a man's chest with bullets; or the guerilla who murders night and day in Southeast Asia. I object to programs

America has which has allowed communist tyrants to stay in power. If we'd make it tougher for them to get our food, then maybe it would force them to relax their grip on the hundreds of millions of people which it enslaves.

Here's a thought for you: farmers in communist lands are known to sabotage their own crops in order to create a situation which would bring a change in government. Then America comes along and pours in the groceries, helping the tyrants stay in power.

Start with these:

- Remodel your barn and raise dogs
- Get a big freezer and save on food
- Renovate your vacation cottage for rental
- Take a second honeymoon
- Add a wing to your factory
- Remodel your storefront

When opportunity strikes.

- Buy art for investment and pleasure
- Install a furnace
- Repair and paint the barn and outbuildings
- Refurnish your offices

- Pay for your youngsters braces
- Clear up old bills
- Buy new rugs

- Convert the barn to apartments
- Expand your factory
- Take better pictures with a better camera
- Tell the tree surgeon to fix 'em up
- Mend your fences
- Buy a player piano
- Buy a pool table

- Redo a bathroom—or two
- Hook up to the sewer line
- Buy additional equipment to fulfill a business order
- Invest in trees and shrubbery
- Buy antiques to start a business
- Upgrade your wardrobe—and the family's
- Buy storm windows
- Install a patio with a gas grille

We have the money if you have the ideas.

- Buy a used car, a new car, a you car
- Buy a smart car — smart enough to use less gas
- Get new tires — it's going to snow
- Buy a sailboat you can weekend on
- Finance a company aircraft
- Buy a tuxedo (and get her an evening dress)
- Install a home intercom system
- Go to Europe—with the children
- Go to Europe—without the children
- Build a cabana for the pool
- Add a bathroom in the basement
- Buy a piano or organ
- Take an extra week's vacation this year
- Get an electric dishwasher
- Send your youngster to tech school
- Buy new machinery for your plant
- Get a great summer deal on a snowmobile
- Improve your ham radio rig
- Enclose your porch

Buy your son an electric guitar

- Soundproof the rec room (it figures!)
- Build a tennis court—and light it
- Construct a gazebo
- Get a good stereo with a tape deck
- Redo the dining room
- Train for a second job (or a new occupation)
- Buy a first-class rooftop TV antenna
- Renew your home for 100-amp service
- Try canoeing—great quiet exercise
- Get a tent, camp stove, sleeping bags
- Take some college courses
- Treat the family to bowling balls, bags, shoes
- Install aluminum siding
- Buy up a complete collection of something

A rare one these days.

This could change your life.

- Borrow for school or college tuition
- Pay your taxes without late penalty
- Buy a sewing machine and wear what you make
- Get yourself that motorcycle
- Buy the tools to turn your hobby into a business
- Panel the basement or the garage
- Take flying lessons
- Convert your garage to a bedroom

Get a color TV or an extra set

- Give your daughter that horse
- Borrow against your slow-pay receivables
- Buy an antique car or fire engine for investment
- Turn part of your house into a profitable apartment
- See the U.S.A. in a motor home
- Buy that motorboat
- Or a small plane

This could make for a happy wife.

- Relocate your company's offices
- Remodel the kitchen, pots and pans and all
- Go to cooking school
- Re-roof the house—and insulate it, too
- Borrow against your future crops
- Finance your invention
- Install a new heating system

Enjoy a garden tractor and mower

- Have a fireplace built — or do it yourself
- Repave the driveway
- Sound-proof your den
- Buy skiing equipment
- Teachers' borrow to travel abroad

- Start an advertising campaign for your business
- Go hunting in Alaska
- Open a branch office
- Build separate quarters for your mother-in-law
- Buy your young man needs a house
- If the car runs better than it looks, repaint it
- Join a country club
- Buy a snowmobile
- Beautify your company's building and grounds
- Buy an electric typewriter
- Buy a retirement home or lot
- Build up your rare book collection
- Have cash on hand for country auctions
- Give your daughter a great wedding
- Raise cattle, sheep or hogs
- Repaint and re-outfit your boat
- Buy new golf clubs and bag

Inspired!

Your mother would be proud.

Get a really good home movie outfit in time for this year's vacation

- Buy a water bed
- Go fishing in Canada
- Get a new shotgun and outfit to match
- Install a master bedroom bath
- Get new office equipment
- Build a basement dark room for your family movies
- Enjoy the bike craze—with your whole family
- Paint the town house red
- Buy an encyclopedia set
- Do anything you want that we've forgotten

From here on it's up to you.

Idealoans!

We lend money at low bank rates so people like you can do things

Lancaster • Centerville • Lancaster East • Landisville • Lititz • Manheim Township • Millersville • Rohrerstown • Park City
 Elizabethtown • Elizabethtown East • Willow Street • New Holland • Additional offices throughout south central Pennsylvania
 Accounts now insured to $40,000 by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation