Society 13

Society of Farm Women 13 held their safety meeting for the year at the home of Mrs. John Denlinger. Mrs. William Schroeder served as co-hostess and was in charge of the devotions.

Roll call was answered by admitting to "Something I do that's unsafe." The program for the evening was Trooper Edward J. Rowlands, speaking on, "Safety for Women."

Mrs. Floyd McClenaghan, president, conducted the business meeting. Several of the members entertained guests at Conestoga View on Nov. 20th. Also plans were made for the groups family Christmas party, to be held Dec. 13th, at the Ronks Fire Hall. Mrs. Robert Bomberger will head the ways & means committee and Mrs. Raymond Denlinger will head the program committee. Each member is to bring a hat and a cold covered dish and every person attending is to bring his own place setting for the party, starting at 6:30 p.m.

nice someone did for me." It was voted to give $10.00 to the Lanc. Assoc. of Retarded Citizens and $10.00 to The Lancaster County Mental Association.

The delegates for the Farm Women Convention are Mrs. Robert Good and Mrs. Christ Greider.

The program featured a most interesting demonstration on Corn Husk Dolls by Mrs. Dee Perry who was a former Home Economist at Penn Manor.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arnold G. Lueck.

Dauphin Co.

Society 1

The Dauphin County Society of Farm Women Group 1, had its monthly meeting recently in the Hornerstown Church. Daisy Cassel was hostess. Co-hostess were Harriett Baldwin and Iva Wanamaker. Harriett Baldwin was in charge of devotions.

Roll call was taken with 16 members answering with their favorite food. There were also two guests present.

Plans were made for the next meeting which will be the Group's Christmas party.

It was announced that the Christmas party for the State Hospital will be held on December 17, 1975. We will also be making favors for this party.

Some details were discussed about the State Convention on January 5, 1976.

The program for the evening was a most informative talk given by Mrs. Patricia Huff, home economist, on nutrition and safety. We all learned a great deal.

After the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the Dauphin County Society of Farm Women, Group 1, will be held on December 9, 1975 at 6:30 p.m.

Society 18

Society of Farm Women 18 met on Saturday, November 15 at the home of Mrs. John N. Hess, Columbia R2. Devotions were led by Mrs. Arnold G. Lueck. Roll Call was answered by each member telling "Something

Society 29

Farm Women Society 29 met recently at the home of Mrs. Robert Herr. Roll call was answered by 22 members naming the latest craft they learned.

During the business meeting it was decided to help needy individuals at Christmas time.

Mrs. Glenn Hertzler demonstrated the art of batik. The guest learned the craft while living in Israel. Batik is a method of dyeing designs of material by coating with removable wax.

The group will be touring Rockford on Dec. 4 at 7:00 p.m.

Society 12

Farm Women Society 12 recently met at the Landis Valley Farm Museum. Miss Ethel Kindig conducted a short business meeting with Mrs. Lester Sigman giving devotions.

Roll call was "something I am most thankful for." Mrs. Paul Eshlemen conducted a tour of the museum.

The next meeting will be a covered dish and a Christmas party at the Shady Maple Dec. 6, at 6:00 p.m.

Society 31

Members of Society 31 met at the home of Mrs. Samuel Glick last week. Co-hostess, Mrs. Bill Ulrick had the devotions. "What do you want for Christmas" was the roll call.

The program for the evening was a craft demonstration with members making Christmas ornaments. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Kreider.

One manufacturer recommends using a plastic scouring pad on stains and scratches.

It is wise to wash food and beverage service pieces promptly after use. As with silver, certain chemicals and acids present in many foods may cause stains and pitting if in long contact with pewter. Common culprits include party dips, eggs, salad dressings, oils, vinegar, salt and fruit juices. Acids such as those of a lactic variety found in cheese, may also start corrosive action.

Pewter polish may be used occasionally to restore original sheen. Either pewter or silver polish will renew bright-finish pewter. Read and follow directions. Some pewter and simulated pewter has a protective finish and should not be polished. Suds and water is the A to Z easy care methods for these items. Also like silver, pewter in frequent use will develop tiny scratches that blend into a patina.

Washable

Leather Gloves

It is advisable to look for leather gloves that are marked washable or include an instruction insert on care to benefit from the convenience and economy of at-home treatment.

Generally, American-made leather gloves, such as doeskin, calf and pigskin, are washable since the tanning agents — chrome or oil — are soluble in water. Alum-tanned leather, however, is not washable and should be dry cleaned. Linings such as silk, cashmere, acrylic — are also washable.

Once leather gloves are dry cleaned, they cannot be washed. So begin and continue to treat soiled gloves to at-home care.

Although dark gloves don't show soil, they need washing often since they get dirty on the inside as well as on the outside, and because they absorb perspiration. Wash light and dark color gloves separately. Doeskin should be washed off the hands; as a delicate leather, it tears easily when wet. Wash calf, pigskin and other leathers on the hands. Apply rich warm detergent or soap lather with hand-washing motions, so that each gloved hand washes the other. A washcloth or soft brush is handy for gently rubbing areas such as fingertips that may be especially soiled.

When the outside surfaces are clean, reverse the gloves by carefully "peeling" or pushing them off from the cuffs down, and wash them inside. Rinse in clear warm water and squeeze gently; do not wring or twist. Remove excess moisture by blotting in a clean towel. Fingerpress gloves while still damp, gently stretching, working and kneading. Dry leather away from direct heat or sunlight. Before gloves are completely dry, work them onto hands to soften and reshape them. If dry, re-moisten gloves in a damp towel before refinishing them in the same way.

Acrylics and blends and cotton gloves are generally machine washable and dryable, unless instructions state to the contrary. Wools should be hand washed and allowed to dry flat before stretching back into shape. Do not rub wools, this can cause pilling, matting or shrinking.

Since man-made fiber gloves such as vinyl may be fur-lined for warmth, simply wash the outside with a sadsy cloth. Fur cannot be washed.

Cookbook sales soar

Mrs. Nicky Beaulieu representing Favorite Recipes Press of Montgomery, Alabama, printer of the National Grange Bicentennial Year Cookbook, announced to 1,000 Grange members attending the Women's Activities Banquet in Columbus, Ohio, that nearly 20,000 orders for the Cookbook were received prior to the book being printed.

Mrs. Beaulieu said the first shipment of books were sent out November 1st. She said the National Grange expects thousands of more orders prior to the Christmas season and that the book will be available only through the Bicentennial Year.

Mrs. Jenny Grobusky, Director of Women's Activities of the National Grange, unveiled the Cookbook for the first time on the opening day of the Grange's Annual Convention, Nov. 10th. The Grange met in Columbus until Nov. 18th.

Mrs. Grobusky said the Cookbooks are being sold by all local Granges throughout the country. She said persons not living in Grange areas can order a book at $5 a copy from the National Grange, 1616 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006. It contains nearly 1,200 recipes, color photographs, recipes from "Friends from the Nation's Capitol" and a special section of recipes for diabetics.
