

PSU ag students honored

UNIVERSITY PARK - Professionals of the American Society of Animal Science recently cited for honors 81 undergraduate students attending The Pennsylvania State University.

Students named achieved a scholastic ranking in the top 10 percent of their class in the College of Agriculture. Selections were made on the basis of class standing at the close of the winter term.

The society's scholarship recognition program, established in 1965, is limited to students who have completed three or more terms in a four-year curriculum of animal science or animal industry.

A list of honored Pennsylvania students follows: Todd R. Waybright, Gettysburg; Robert A. Wagner, Pittsburgh; Victoria A. Pursley, Monroeville; Sandra F. Herman, Pittsburgh; Susan M. Daly, Cheswick; Philip H. Scott, Pittsburgh; and Martin S. McGuire, Pittsburgh.

Inspections resume

HARRISBURG - Secretary of Environmental Resources Maurice K. Goddard said last week that Department would resume its migrant labor camp inspection program July 1 under a legislative appropriation designated specifically for that purpose.

The program was dropped in the current fiscal year as part of many moves to eliminate a $3 million budget deficit.

Goddard said sanitarians from DER county offices would begin camp inspections July 1, assigning first priority to occupied camps and camps using crews ordered through the State Department of Labor and Industry.

Camps known to have sanitation problems would be handled next followed by the remaining camps to the limit of the $35,000 appropriated for this program.

To prevent duplication of inspectional service, the Department has contacted the Occupational Safety and Health Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor.

A letter has been sent to migrant labor camp operators advising them of the resumption of the program and indicating that a valid 1976 permit will be required prior to occupancy or to continue operation.

Permit applications should be filled out and the county DER office contacted when the camp is ready for inspection.

The satisfaction that comes from doing a good job of farming

It's a great feeling to know that you are the master of your farmlands . . . that when you treat your soil right it will treat you right. Liming is one of the most important factors in keeping your soil in the highest productive range. A good pasture with a pH of 6.5 or higher, for example, will make 300 to 400 lbs. of beef per acre and produce up to $100 gross income per acre. This means with the help of lime, profits from pastures can compare favorably with feed or grain crops.
