in the 4-H Dress Revue. Details on her achievements can be found on page 57. The flower judging and horse bowl teams from Chester County placed second. Berks County had the fifth place dairy judging team.

The 4-H Achievement Days featured scores of demonstrations by both teams and individuals who recently won blue ribbons in county and regional competition.

Champion judging teams in the areas of dairy, entomology, vegetables, flower judging and identification, riflery, livestock, horse, poultry, archery and meat identification were selected. New this year was a clothing judging contest.

Two other events, an automotive contest and tractor operator's contest, tested participants on their driving skills and knowledge of vehicle safety.

County horse bowl teams competed with the winners eligible to enter the Northeast Regional 4-H Horse Bowl at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition in Harrisburg.

Initiated seven years ago, "Consumerama" presentations were geared to the teenage consumer. "Consumerama" consists of a series of three activities designed to help increase consumer competency. Activities include a consumer bowl game, planathon, and judging.

Also featured was the state

4-H public speaking contest where regional winners vied for a trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Again this year, the State 4-H Dress Revue was held in conjunction with 4-H Achievement Days. Thirty-five 4-H members, receiving regional honors in dress revues, competed on August 11 in four categories - school outfits, spectator or active sports, street attire, and formal and informal party dress. One winner from each category and four winners at large were selected by professional judges and the participants. One of the eight top winners will represent Pennsylvania at the National 4-H Congress.

More details on the activities in words and pictures follow:

LANCASTER COUNTY

The consumerama team consisting of LuAnn Breneman, Sandy Galbreath, Sandy Schmuck, and Tim Swarr won a blue ribbon. The horse bowl judges picked up seventh place in their team competition. Presidential citations were awarded to 4-H'ers excelling in physical fitness - Paul Reitzel, Andrea Gibson, Ted Gray, and Susan Sollenberger. The team was first in all-around competition.

In senior livestock judging, the team captured first place, with Ken Brubaker checking in with the top individual mark. Robert Hess was fifth in the individuals. Rounding out the team were Kevin Rohrer in 13th place and Anthony Eberly, 15th. Hess and Brubaker picked up blue ribbons for their work. Members of the second-place poultry judging team were Joyce Aument, Anita Augsburger, Mary DeLong and Pam Wivell.

Some very high marks were registered by girls on the Lancaster County junior livestock judging team, and naturally enough, it all added up to a first-place performance on a team basis. Hitting the top mark on individual scoring was Linda Martin followed in second place by Judy Zimmerman. Red Rose 4-H'ers missed out on third place, but two from the County tied for fourth. They were Tim Long and Kim Weaver.

Lancaster County's third place dairy judging team consisted of Kerry Boyd, Phil Crouse, Sandra Frey, and Robert Witmer. Crouse, finishing tenth in individual scoring, picked up a blue ribbon, while Witmer checked in with 15th place and a red cloth. The County's top clothing judge was Peg Sherk of Mount Joy who placed fifth in the statewide contest.

Cathy Brubaker and Maureen Doyle were both state winners in the dress revue. A separate feature on Miss Brubaker's achievements may be found on page 81.

In demonstrations, Martha Gregory of Lititz picked up a blue ribbon for her presentation, entitled "Hats Off to Tom Turkey." Red ribbons were presented to Carole Ebersole, Susan Martin, and Wanda Yoder. CUMBERLAND COUNTY: Greg Williams, Wendy

Mains and Sheree Mains made up the first-place team for consumer education. The third-place horse judging team consisted of Robert Otto, Judy Long, Leda Bellanca, and Betsy Nichols. High individual on the team
