

PRODUCTION DOESN'T HAVE TO LEVEL OFF WHEN CONSUMPTION REACHES ITS PEAK.

Energy is the key

Your dairy cows may be getting all the feed they want. But are they getting the nutrition they need? Even at peak consumption, there's still a way to get more out of your herd. Master Mix[®] Research found that a high energy dairy ration can significantly increase daily production even at peak consumption. Extra energy increases the pounds of milk produced and raises the percentage of butterfat.

Enter Density Plus[™]

After extensive testing, Master Mix Research developed dairy feeds that supply the extra energy that's so vital to increased production. They're called Density Plus and they pack more energy per pound than any other commercial dairy feeds.

Density Plus is really "Energy Plus"

You've seen that extra energy is important. But the Density Plus story doesn't end there. Master Mix[®] fortified Density Plus feeds with vitamins and minerals to keep your herd in top condition.

Since Density Plus feeds are pelleted, the availability of the nutrients within the feeds is improved.

It works!

If you haven't tried Density Plus you still might be skeptical. But if you asked any one of the thousands of dairymen across the country who use Density Plus, you'd probably be sold on Density Plus. Most of the Density Plus dairymen we know are getting more milk on less feed.

Of course, the amount of milk you produce depends on many factors. But all things being equal, it's a pretty safe bet that Density Plus will work for you.

Visit your local Master Mix Dealer and get all the facts about Density Plus. He'll tell you how you can "energize" your dairy herd.
