

Central and Southeastern Pennsylvania Areas - Also Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware Serving The

VOL 22 No. 30

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, June 11, 1977

$4.00 Per Year

Cherries are ripe

V JOANNE SPAHR NCASTER, Pa. - The cherry harvest has in many parts of aster Farming's age area, and from all ardent home rts. should be dering getting their v early. Nearly every orchardist spoken to in Lancaster, York, Adams, Chester, and Berks counties report having a "light" crop this year, mainly due to two damaging frosts which hit during the month of April. The quality of the cherries, on the other hand, has been termed "very good" to

"excellent" because of the dry weather Pennsylvania had been experiencing prior to this week. According to growers, the small amount of rain keeps the cherries from swelling, causing a more concentrated sugar content per individual fruit. [Continued on Page 36]

bee ea

By DIETER KRIEG NCASTER - If you have will do the trick. in your field - more

An imported parasitic wasp

According to Lancaster ifically cereal leaf County Agent Arnold Lueck, es - there's a way of the cereal leaf beetle g your property of the appears to be firmly which involves neither established in all sections of picals nor fly swatters. the County, with the northern and eastern areas having the greatest numbers. Lueck was out Wednesday afternoon introducing the biological killer into fields in the area. It'll take a couple of years [Continued on Page 3:8]

Credit law scored

By JOYCE BUPP York Co. Reporter DRK, Pa. Where's the rest wastebasket? n confronted with the operation, under the present Truth In- Lending and Reform Act," scheduled in Washington for June 27, regulations.

Production Credit and at's the number one Federal Land Bank tion a farmer might ask organizations across the country are preparing es of paperwork he must testimony for hearings on and keep when Senate Bill 1312, the "Truth owing money for his in Lending Simplification 28, and 29.

William Senator Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, has set up hearings on the proposal which would [Continued on Page 35]

rought was coac

By DIETER KRIEG ERNVILLE, Pa. - A nership of three brothers this Berks County munity is recording strong gains in milk having learned how to farm during the dry years of the 1960's.

"The dry years of the mid-Sixties is what made us farmers - we learned to feed brothers who main responsibilities concern field work. The Yost Brothers, whose 200 acres of jointly owned land goes under the name of "Tri Y Farms,"

--Um-m-m boy! There's nothing quite like a fresh sweet cherry on the first day of the season. If Jennifer Shertzer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shertzer, Lancaster R6, didn't know that befere she knows it now. Jenny lives right across the road from Cherry Hill Orchards, New Danville Pike, Lancaster, so she'll be getting her fill of that delicious fruit this season.

	In	th	is	issue
June is	Farm Calendar Editorials	10 10		ris Thomas me on the Range	47 50
daim	Letters	10		Cooking Edition	51
Juana	Medicine & Mgmt.	16		e on the Farm	58
month	Homestead Notes	42		ssifieds	64
	Joyce Bupp	43	Por	rtable Milk Processor	90
	My Thoughts	45	Pic	kle Problems	98
	Ida's Notebook	45	Sal	e Reports	113
V	News Nutrition	46, 48		blic Ŝales Register	114

^{ction}, and they're with nothing," commented cultivate a total of 550 acres ng part of the credit to Jim Yost, eldest of the three

[Continued on Page 26]

By JOANNE SPAHR h, Marietta, after paying ig ones for a quart box of nn "Buddy" Shenk's e-winning Jersey Belles Wednesday.

Shenk's berries were the ANCASTER, Pa. - "I'm grand champions of the ing that my $50 gets me Rotary sponsored Lancaster he free advice on growing County strawberry round-up wherries," quipped Sam held during the Rotary Club's weekly luncheon at the Farm and Home Center, here.

> Reserve champion honors went to, Jim Stauffer,

Lancaster, a member of the Penn Manor 4-H Community Club. Stauffer also showed the Jersey Belle variety, and received $10 a piece for his quart boxes.

This is the second year in a row for 15-year-old Shenk, the son of Mr. and Mrs. [Continued on Page 33]

ANCASTER, Pa. ncaster Stockyards ounced this week it will ard a $1,000 savings bond the consigner of the tion here.

0,000th animal to be sold

its twice-weekly cattle

he auction pavilion at the kyards opened on April

64, and since then nearly illion head of cattle have tered

. Wednesday auctions.

Stockyard officials estimate the 1,000,000th animal will pass over the pavilion scales sometime in June.

William G. McCoy, Stockyards president, said, "We feel a $1,000 savings bond is a fitting way to celebrate another milestone purchased by meat at this historic site where packers at the Monday and cattlemen and buyers have traded since 1895.

> Stockyard officials point out that steers, bulls, heifers and cows are being counted toward the 1,000,000th head.

To qualify for the $1,000 savings bond, cattle shippers must sell their livestock through one of nine commission firms operating on the Stockyards.

Glenn "Buddy" Shenk prepares to hand his $50 quart of strawberries over to their new owner Sam Zuck, Marietta. Zuck bid the $50 during the Rotary Club sponsored Lancaster County strawberry roundup and came up a winner.