

Hot weather safety urged

By JAY IRWIN
County Agent

LANCASTER - Everyone enjoys a beautiful, sunny day without a cloud in the sky and with temperature and humidity just so. But such a good combination is the exception rather than the rule in much of the nation during Summer. In fact Summer weather can do us real harm unless we take precautions.

High heat and humidity can drain our energy and affect how safely we work, play, and drive. Sunburn and sunstroke are health hazards, and "Old Sol's" glare can hamper vision and bring on eye fatigue. Summer storms often are violent, with heavy rain, wind and lightning.

The bugs are out in full force and, in addition to driving us crazy, often hurt us directly with stings and bites and indirectly through spread of disease and poisoning from accidental ingestion of chemical bug killers. Certain foods if not properly handled can quickly spoil or become laden with harmful bacteria, making them special hazard to picnickers, campers, and those without decent refrigeration at home.

Vapor lock and overheated overheated engines bring problems to drivers. Hardworking home air conditioners can bring homeowners and renters fire hazards if electrical systems engines bring problems to drivers. Hardworking home air conditioners can bring homeowners and renters fire hazards if electrical systems aren't up to the job.

The "good old summertime" does have its less good aspects, so let's think about what we might do to survive the hot months in good order. Here are a few thought-starters:

1. When the weather is super hot and or humid, pace your energy output accordingly. Don't overdo it. Stop for a rest and refreshments now and then. Drink plenty of cool liquids, but check with your doctor about salt consumption.

2. Avoid severe sunburn if you want to preserve your complexion and help prevent skin cancer. Wear light, cool clothing that covers vulnerable skin areas and a brimmed or billed cap. People with sensitive skins need more protection than others.

3. Wear good quality sunglasses to reduce glare when driving. For good eye protection, especially on the job, make sure the glasses have break-resistant lenses and sturdy frames.

4. Be prepared for summer storms that may pass through your area. Lightning is probably the most common severe weather hazard, and appropriate shelter should be sought when a storm approaches.

5. Stinging insects such as bees, wasps and hornets can cause much pain and could be a threat to life of persons who are hypersensitive to their venom. People who react severely to stings should seek medical treatment to desensitize themselves.

6. Keep household, lawn, garden and field insecticides out of reach of children and under lock. Always keep the material in its original container.

7. Take proper care of food during warm weather to prevent food poisoning. Between 60 degrees Fahrenheit and 125 degrees Fahrenheit bacteria will flourish. Put leftovers in the refrigerator immediately after the meal. Workers carrying lunches without benefit of refrigeration should select sandwich ingredients, fruits and canned products that will keep without problems.
