

Five take all at Lebanon sheep show

Scott Eckenrode with his champion ram.

LEBANON - Melanie and Julie Bow of Annville, Scott Eckenrode of Rexmont, Nicole Emrich of Annville, and Cathie McFeater of Lebanon took all the honors at the 4-H and FFA sheep show held here at the Lebanon Fair on Wednesday.

Julie Bow, 13, exhibited the champion ewe, and was chosen as champion fitter of the entire show. Her 9-year old sister, Melanie, was first with her individual market lamb and was the best showman in the contest. In addition, she was reserve champion fitter. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bow. Both exhibited Suffolks for their honors.

Scott Eckenrode brought a snow-white ram into the show ring which caught the judge's eye. The handsome Cheviot was chosen as the best ram at the entire fair. Eckenrode, 12, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eckenrode, and has 15 ewes of his own. His prize-winning ram is not quite a year old and will be used for breeding purposes, the young man told Lancaster Farming. Eckenrode also had the best pen of market lambs.

Nicole Emrich, 12, exhibited a pair of Dorset ewes to first place in their respective age classes and also had the reserve champion ewe. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Emrich.

Cathie McFeaters scored with her Corriedale ram and was chosen as reserve champion showman of the contest.

Lickin' Good

Nutrena Controlled Release CLS—so different, it's patented

Your cattle will like Nutrena Controlled Release CLS and you'll like the benefits behind this new development in liquid supplements. The patented process controls the release of protein-building ammonia nitrogen in the rumen compared with a conventional urea-based liquid supplement. This improves the feeding efficiency of the urea. And, the slow-down means an extra margin of safety from urea toxicity—that's important when self-feeding liquid supplement.

Nutrena Controlled Release CLS liquid supplement—a product of Cargill research. It's great for dairy herds as well as beef cattle on range, pasture, stalks, stubble or in the feedlot.

Ribbons gathered, not eggs

LEBANON - The Lebanon Fair featured almost an entire barnful of poultry but only about a dozen owners shared in the first-place list. Scoring more points than anyone else in the group, according to unofficial results, was Henry Miller of Lebanon, who collected about 75 blue ribbons for first places alone. Among his prize-winning birds were Leghorn and Hamburg varieties of chickens, geese, and ducks.

Behney and Miller of Myerstown brought in their fowl to gather ribbons, instead of eggs. They collected dozens of blue ribbons for first-place alone. Russell Minnich of Kutztown was another top poultry exhibitor, with about 25 first-place ribbons.

Others who gathered blue ribbons by the handful included Ben Maurer, from Lebanon; Ray Baker of Manheim, Melvin Bollinger of Lititz, John Mock of Myerstown, Brian Bachman from Lititz, Randall Leinbach of Ephrata, Terry Arbogast of Millerstown, and William Howe of Stevens.
