

Dairy clubs consider new approach

CHAMBERSBURG - Franklin County dairy clubs are currently debating an idea which would mean withdrawing the County's 4-H dairy roundups from the County Fair and having it earlier in the Summer in conjunction with other 4-H roundups of all sorts. It's thought that this idea will open up "many possibilities" for expanding time and barn space from Monday to Wednesday of Fair Week. (The Franklin County Fair this year was held from Aug. 21-17.)

According to reports submitted during a directors' meeting of the Franklin County 4-H Dairy Council on Sept. 13, it's also believed that the proposed move will allow Guernsey exhibitors more time to "get settled in and ready for their show." Also, other kinds of livestock could be housed and shown on an open and 4-H basis as the Guernsey and Holstein shows are held. There could be goats, sheep, swine, rabbits, and poultry.

The 4-H roundups could be a two to three day combination of all the roundups that would agree to combine time, space, and forces. Without the commercialism of a midway, 4-Hers' attention would be focused on their own projects and many other interesting ones that they can observe and learn from. There are many new 4-H projects in Franklin County, and many that have never really been presented to the public.

Some reasons to keep the Dairy Roundup in the fair were that the animals would have to be readied, trucked, and stayed with two separate weeks instead of one, and the beef and swine roundups are now being held at auction barns to take advantage of commercial buyers. Final decision will be withheld until further discussion.

President Roy Crodell asked for discussion about the county's 4-H dairy calf sale. The sale, to date, has been open only to 4-Hers, FFA members, and junior dairy breed members from age 8 to 21, residing in Franklin County. They must each bid on the calf they wish to purchase for a project. The object is to teach them how to follow an auctioneer, use a sale catalog, bid properly, and know the value of individual calves, based upon type and pedigree. A decision was made to have the sale again this year and keep the rules the same.

Franklin County's 4-H Dairy Bowl Team, which won first place at State Days, will represent Pennsylvania at V.P.I. in Virginia, September 24 in the Second Annual Junior Dairy Bowl. The team members are Paul Cashell, Jesse Reichard, Marion Crider, and Mary Ann Johnson. The 4-H Dairy Council will finance travelling and lodging expenses for the four team members and their two chaperones - Eugene and Carol Schurman.

There will be a county-wide 4-H fitting and showing clinic early next Summer. Plans are underway.

The next board meeting will be held October 13.

The deadly piranha fish of the Amazon's waters can turn man or beast to bones with its deadly jaws and razor-sharp teeth. Yet, piranhas are wonderful parents to their young. The females lay their eggs on aquatic vegetation. The males fertilize the eggs and then stay in the neighborhood while the hundreds of eggs hatch. No passing fish would dare to snack on baby piranhas with papa piranhas hanging around.

Human nature has its ups and downs, as everyone knows. But using a theory known as biorhythms you may be able to plot your highs and lows accurately. When you're low - physically, emotionally or intellectually - you tend to feel fatigued, depressed, and slow-witted. Some of these days are called "crisis days" - when you should be particularly alert. According to its proponents, a biorhythm chart can pinpoint the days when you should be especially careful.
