

Champions named at Breeder's Fair

FAIR HILL, Md. - Contestants from southeastern Pennsylvania, northern Delaware, and northeastern Maryland matched animals and skills recently during the annual Breeder's Fair, held in Cecil County, Md. The event is for 4-H'ers from Chester and Delaware counties, Pa., New Castle County, Del., and Cecil

County, Md. Following are the highlights:

In the dairy cattle fitting and showing contests, breed champions were: William Henley, Ayrshires; Ned Davis, Guernseys; Dean Tyson, Holsteins; Denise Andrien, Jersey. Miss Andrien was grand champion, with the reserve honor going to Tyson.

Champion Ayrshires were exhibited by Kennard Henley, who captured junior, senior and grand titles. Ned Davis overpowered his competitors in the Guernsey show by winning the top three championship titles. He lost out in winning many of the first places in group placings, however, relinquishing them to competing 4-H'ers Billy Duncan, (junior calf); Glenn Davis, (senior calf); Martin England, (senior yearling); Denise Andrien, (2 year old); and Dorothy Carson, (3-year old and dam and daughter pair).

The Holstein show was won by Richard Green, Jr., whose 4-year old bested a junior calf exhibited by Sherrie Lieske, which also stood as junior champion. Others who showed first-place animals in the Holstein show were: Ed Breckbill, (senior calf); Daryl Tyson, (junior yearling); Susan Pepple, (2-year old); and Alan Mason, (3-year old). Second-place ribbons were won by Nancy Yarnall, Dean Yarnall, Ed Breckbill, Eric Knutson, Donald Eastburn, and Susan Pepple.

Denise Andrien had all the champions in the Jersey show. Others to win first in various classes were: Elizabeth Wollaston, (junior calf and senior yearling), Patricia Jenkins, (junior yearling and 2-year old).

In baby beef competition, fitting and showing recognition went to: 1. Jeff Walker, 2. Ginny Coleman, 3. Bill Wylie, 4. Ken Walker, 5. Linda Coleman. Dave Wylie was chosen grand champion for fitting and showing. The reserve honor went to Barbara Sickler.

Lynda Coleman exhibited the champion Hereford and Shorthorn. Bill Wylie was tops with his Angus, leaving Dawn Gidner with the reserve champion banner. In a contest for crossbreds and other breeds, Dave Wylie led the pack, followed in order by: Ed Wylie, Dave Wylie, Barbara Sickler, Jeff Walker, and Kenneth Walker. At the conclusion of the show, Dave Wylie's entry was chosen as grand champion, while Ed Wylie received the reserve banner.

The Breeder's Show also included a dairy goat show, which had entries by Tom Csala, Ruth Weaver, and Julie Baker. Csala had all the champions in the show, but didn't take quite all the blue ribbons.

In the horse show, first places were won by Pat Bitner, Melissa Moore, Amy Moore, Donna Keys, Francis Moore, Susan Oglesby, Mary and Rebecca High-

U.S. accepts Canadian eggs

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services, announced that effective Oct. 23 Canada will be the first country eligible to export egg products to the United States since implementation of the Egg Products Inspection Act of 1970.

At the request of the Canadian government, officials of USDA's Food Safety and Quality Service (FSQS) reviewed the Canadian egg products inspection system and found it equivalent to that of the United States. FSQS then proposed to list Canada's egg products inspection system as equivalent to that of the United States, thereby entitling approved Canadian plants to export egg products to the United States.

The purpose of the Egg Products Inspection Act is to help assure that eggs and egg products that reach the consumer are wholesome. The act permits foreign countries to export egg products to the United States only if the foreign egg products inspection uses the same standards required by the act for domestic egg products and if plants operate under a continuous government inspection system approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Nine comments were received on the proposal to approve the Canadian inspection system. Most of them concerned the possible economic impact on the U.S. egg industry, which is beyond the scope of the Egg Products Inspection Act. Some comments also dealt with the adequacy and control of the Canadian egg products inspection system.
