

Nation's largest indoor horse show

Pa. National Horse Show set for Oct. 15 thru 22

HARRISBURG - The 32nd Pennsylvania National Horse Show will be held at the Farm Show Arena, Harrisburg, Pa., for eight days, from October 15 to October 22. With an entry list of more than 700 competitors, Harry G. Banzhoff, president of the Pennsylvania National Horse Show, expects this to be the best National in many years. Special features of the horse show include the world famous Budweiser Clydesdales which will perform for the first time at the October 17 evening session and appear nightly thereafter. Other attractions include the Carlisle High School Marching Band and the Zembo Shrine's award winning Mounted Patrol.

One of the main attractions of the show is expected to be the open jumper section in which many well known riders will compete. Rodney Jenkins, a 32-year-old professional, will have three of his leading jumpers present to enter the event. Katie Monahan, from Bloomfield, Mich., has entered two horses in the event. Neal Shapiro, who won two medals in the 1972 Olympics for the U.S. Equestrian Team will also ride, toughening the competition.

Two other major competitive events are planned throughout the week, also. They are the Prix des States and the national finals of the Medal Class for Horsemanship.

The Prix des States is a jumping competition that brings together teams of the leading junior jumpers in the country, representing six states - Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and Texas. The team contest will be held October 15 with the individual junior jumping competition to be held the next day.

The Medal Class is the nation's premier horsemanship event, bringing together all the under-eighteen riders who have qualified for the event the past year. This class is scheduled on October 16.

Throughout the week of competition, there is a variety of classes and events. Featured will be classes for hunters, jumpers, American Saddle Horses, Tennessee Walking Horses, Morgan Horses, pony roadsters, equitation and police competition.

The Pennsylvania National Horse Show is a non-profit organization. Proceeds from the show are donated to the Kiwanis Club of Harrisburg's Youth Foundation. As the nation's largest indoor horse show, the Pennsylvania National has entries from all over the United States and Canada. It features two performances daily, starting at 9 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

General admission is $2 for daytime performances and $2.50 for evening sessions except for the final Saturday when tickets are $2.50 and $3.00, respectively. Children under 12 are admitted to all sessions for $1 when accompanied by an adult.

Tissue grapes produced

BELTSVILLE, Md. - Less than a year ago, a vineyard now containing 65 grape vines in Silver Run, Md., began in a research laboratory as just one cubic centimeter of grape vine tissue.

The vineyards are part of an experiment conducted by plant physiologist Dr. William R. Krul of USDA's Agricultural Research Service to propagate grape vines faster and more efficiently through a technique known as "tissue culturing." Thousands of grape vines can be produced from a single tissue culture in half the time it takes to propagate a few hundred vines by stem cuttings, the conventional way to propagate grapes.

Dr. Krul's vineyard is the first in the U.S., perhaps in the world, consisting of vines grown entirely from isolated cells.

Tissue culturing provides scientists and nurserymen with an aseptic method of obtaining true-to-form plants from bits of immature flower buds, growing tips, or other tender parts of plants that possess disease resistance or other desired characteristics.

The experimental vineyard is expected to be at full production by the summer of 1980.
