

Lancaster Farming

Serving The Central and Southeastern Pennsylvania Areas - Also Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware

VOL. 23 No. 3

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, November 19, 1977

$6.00 Per Year

Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto Him with songs of praise. Psalms 95:2

The "Choraleers" a musical group from Lancaster Mennonite High School, sing songs of thanksgiving at the 60th annual meeting of Inter-State Milk Producers, held at the Host Farm Resort Thursday night.

In this issue

Farm Calendar	10
Editorials	10
Letters to editor	10
Heister Century farms	15
FA meetings	18, 36
FA convention	20-21
NEPPCO contests	24
MPCO meetings	26
FA feature	39
Homestead Notes	42
Kendy's Kolumn	44
Home on the Range	46
F. Cooking Edition	48
Farm Women Calendar	48
Children's page	51
My Thoughts	52
Ma's Notebook	52
Joyce Bupp	53
Kilowatchers	54
Top 4-H demonstrator	55
Holiday decorations	56
Top 4-H riders	58
Classifieds	59
Dauphin DHIA	87
Guernsey awards	88
Plant lovers' corner	89
York County FFA	93
Northampton DHIA	96
Saving for posterity	97
Girl president	98
Egg battle update	104
Keystone beef show	105
Top colored bulls	111
U.S. food policy	114
American Agri-Women	119

Sen. Heinz upset by some ag policies

By DIETER KRIEG
LANCASTER - Some of the government's farm-related programs and policies are such that the responsible agencies should be taken to jail, not just to court, alleges U.D. Senator John Heinz, Republican Senator from Pittsburgh. The junior senator from Pennsylvania made the stinging remark at the 60th annual dinner meeting of Inter-State Milk Producers, held here Thursday evening at the Host Farm Resort. Heinz expressed disappointment over a number of issues, particularly the new Farm Bill, imports, and conflicting nutritional directives by government agencies.

Heinz didn't come to Inter-State's gathering of 1100 people to just deliver sour notes, however. He frequently mixed his (Continued on Page 25)

Soybean harvest hampered by weather

By KENDACE BORRY
LITITZ - The weather is the main concern of soybean farmers in the Lancaster Farming area according to a survey done this past week.

Rainy conditions have held back harvesting to the point where crops which by now would normally be almost completely harvested are still standing in the fields.

Raymond Callis, Manheim R1, in Lancaster County, raised 65 acres of soybeans this year and at the time of this survey, only four acres were harvested. According to Callis, he needs three sunshiny days before he can get back to combining his fields and he hopes to be back to doing his soybeans by the beginning of the next week. Although he mentioned that he had some minor problems with hail damage and weed problems in his fields, he expects an (Continued on Page 22)

NEPPCO hears of economic gloom

By DIETER KRIEG
LANCASTER - On Tuesday afternoon of this week, one of the country's best known experts on the stock market, Albert Sindlinger, forecasted the market would drop significantly on Friday (yesterday).

Sindlinger was one of the main speakers who spoke at the final annual conference of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council (NEPPCO) held here at the Host Farm earlier this week. Sindlinger's message was in part an economic outlook, and partly an assessment of our government's ability to cope with financial matters.

In short, Sindlinger said that officials in Washington do not understand U.S. financial matters and that some internal power struggles are causes for continuous bungling. The net result is that a recession is inevitable and (Continued on Page 28)

York 4-H livestock team captures national title

KANSAS CITY - Pennsylvania, represented by a York County team, won the American Royal National 4-H meats judging contest for the first time last week in test was held from November 9 through November 11.

The team's win came about by earning 1888 points out of a possible 2070.

1878 points and Nebraska was third with 1870 points. Fourteen states were represented in the contest.

Kathy Sunday, York R1, was high individual in the points out of a possible 690 points. Brenda Werner, Hanover, R1, was ninth overall judging.

In the beef carcasses and beef chuck classes, Laurie was second high individual with 144 points out of 150, and David Wise, Spring Grove R2, was third with 142 points. The York County team