Santa and the goats

terrible problem to the animals. When he asked Star and Nikki if they would take the places of the two sick reindeer, Nikki was so excited he jumped three feet in the air while Star just nodded her head up and down many times, too speechless to speak.

Quickly Santa sprinkled the magic flying dust on the two goats and the animals ran to get in harness. Santa climbed back into the sled and off the group went, one reindeer with a red nose leading, followed by six more reindeer, two goats, and one sleigh filled with Santa, two sick passenger reindeer and lots of toys.

Just in time all the stockings of the world were filled and all the presents placed under the trees to be found on Christmas morning.

Then it was back to Lancaster County where Santa returned Star and Nikki to their home and they promptly settled down for a long morning nap

But if you happen to mention the words Santa, reindeer, or Christmas around those Lancaster County goats, Star and Nikki, don't be surprised to see their heads come up and a twinkle appear in their eyes. After all, just how many Lancaster County goats have had the privilege of going with Santa on Christmas Eve?
