

Bank officers promoted

LANCASTER - Commonwealth National Agri-Loan Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Commonwealth National Bank, announces the promotions of six officers. John R. Biechler, Lancaster, was advanced from chairman of the board of directors. Biechler is president and chief executive officer of Commonwealth National Bank.

Harry Wallick, York, who was president of the bank's York Region, was named an Agri-Loan Corp. vice president.

John J. Baker, Gap (Salisbury Township), was promoted from secretary to treasurer, succeeding Robert P. Bucher, Conestoga, who was recently named president of the subsidiary.

John W. Risser, Manheim (Penn Township), has been promoted from assistant secretary to secretary. Risser joined Commonwealth National Bank in 1973 as an agricultural representative and was named assistant manager of the bank's Agricultural Loans Department in 1975.

Joseph S. Lefever, Lititz, is the subsidiary's new assistant treasurer. A native of Manheim, he joined Commonwealth National Bank as an agricultural representative in the Agricultural Loans Department in 1974. A 1972 graduate of Manheim Central High School, Lefever was an active member of the Future Farmers of America (FFA), and in 1974 received the American Farmer Degree for his work in the field of agricultural business.

J. Mark Bushong, Landisville (East Hempfield Township), was named assistant secretary of the subsidiary. He joined the bank as an assistant manager of the Agricultural Loans Department in 1977, after owning and operating a 130-acre dairy and poultry farm near his native Columbia, Pa., for about 30 years. A past president of the Lancaster County Cooperative Agricultural Extension Service Board, Bushong is a director of Lancaster County Council of Churches, and the Community Action Program of Lancaster County.

Rare insect appearing

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Gypsy moths are making headlines this year in the northern tier of counties after being relatively inactive for several years. But the big news from a lay person's standpoint is the appearance throughout central Maryland of the palmerworm - seldom seen except by professional entomologists, deep in the hardwood forests of the eastern U.S.

Palmerworm larvae have

Agri-Loan Corp., which is headquartered at the bank's Lancaster Region office, 28 Penn Square, Lancaster, was formed in 1970. As of the end of 1977 the subsidiary's loan portfolio totaled $12,775,000, a 26.9 per cent gain over its 1976 amount. Agri-Loan Corp. serves farm customers in 20 Pennsylvania counties.

one thing in common with gypsy moth larvae - they both prefer the leaves of oak trees. But gypsy moths are considerably larger and much more destructive.

Textbooks describe the palmerworm as a relatively rare insect whose populations peak about once every 60 years. Actually, the last recorded populations peak about once every 60 years. Actually, the last recorded population peak in the East appears to have been about 1880 - nearly a century ago.

Because he is seldom seen and not notoriously destructive, the tiny palmerworm has not been well studied. In fact, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency doesn't even have specific pesticide label directives for its control.

Eggs laid by these moths should be producing caterpillars in large number just about now (early June). The caterpillars are only about one-half inch long. They are olive-green, with two white stripes along the side and two narrow white lines on the back.

If you suddenly find large numbers of such caterpillars on your property, don't panic. They probably won't do much damage. Just remember that you're seeing something that won't appear again for 60 to 100 years - based on past history.
