

Chianina Field Day was bright and beautiful

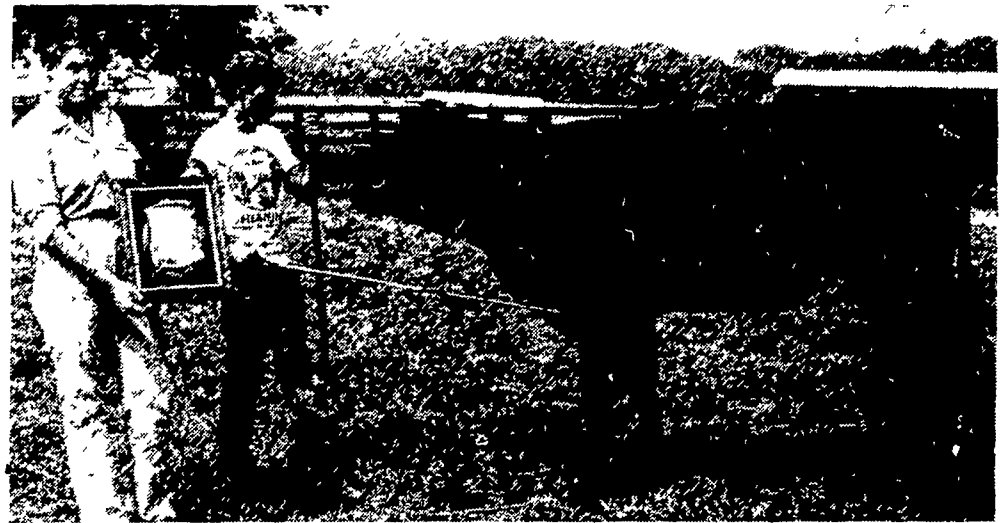

By KENDACE BORRY
YORK — Last Saturday dawned bright, beautiful and hot for the over 500 people gathered for the Northeast Region of the American Chianina Association Field Day. Held at Lauxmont Farms, Wrightsville, owner Ron Kohr and manager Ernie Martinez welcomed the beef fanciers who made the trek for the festivities. Activities throughout the day included judging contests, steer and heifer shows, a fun auction, showmanship competition, and a Chianina barbeque lunch. In the steer competition, Lori Haas, an 18-year-old young lady from Douglasville, and a ten year member of the Berks County 4-H Beef Club showed the grand champion steer of the day. Weighing 1085 pounds, she informed her audience that "Walter" was a Chianina-Angus cross. The reserve champion steer in the competition was shown by Bonnie Frey, Making it look easy is Dan Glass, 17, of Stanford, Kty. who showed the champion heifer at the show. Presenting his award is the Cattleman's queen, Ginger Stokes.

Bart Glass, brother of Dan showed the reserve champion steer. Presenting his plaque is Kathy Kohr.
