Lybia warm for trade; Quadafi calls Americans terrorists

PARK RIDGE, Ill. - Despite the Arab's generally negative attitude toward the recent Camp David talks, an American farm leader has returned from a week-long conference in Tripoli, Libya, convinced there is a real opportunity to improve trade relations between Libya and the United States.

Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, represented U.S. agriculture as one of 100 Americans invited to participate in the first Arab-American Dialogue. About 200 Arabs from most of the Arab nations attended. Grant said he sensed a "great deal of animosity" among the Arabs over the Israeli-Egyptian talks at Camp David.

"While they are vigorously opposed to the Camp David talks," Grant said, "the Libyans want to build a relationship with the U.S. to increase trade and get increased technological information."

He reported that the Libyan leader, Muammar Quadafi offended many of the Americans in a speech in which he labeled Americans as "terrorists" because the U.S. has air strips throughout the world, maintains the Mediterranean fleet and produces and "controls" a large part of the surplus food of the world.

As one of two American panelists in an economic discussion, Grant prefaced his remarks with: "We have furnished over 80 per cent of the food aid to the world for a great number of years and continue to do so. We do not feel that is a terrorist activity."

As evidence that Libya wants increased trade with the U.S. Grant was told that the Arab nation would open a trade with the U.S. Grant was told that the Arab nation would open a trade office in Washington, D. C. in the near future.

The secret of this family's low oil consumption is neither long un-derear nor frequent trips to the Bahamas. It is their HS Tarm combination boiler. This boiler for central hot water systems allows them to burn wood and oil. When fueled with wood it heats their house and provides oceans of hot tap water as well. Should the wood fire go unattended, the oil burner will continue to supply all their heating and hot water needs.

Imported from Denmark, the HS Tarm boiler displays traditional Danish quality in design, construction and performance. It is available in three sizes and comes with American made and approved controls and equipment. See less of your oil delivery man.
