

Master Mix Buffer Pels

the new, efficient way
to combat costly
acidic conditions in your dairy cows.

Acidic conditions can cause digestive upsets in your dairy cows. They can occur when your cows are receiving large amounts of a grain ration, when they are eating a fermented silage, or when they are getting roughage, including silage, haylage, or lush grass high in water content.

When these conditions exist, Master Mix Research trials have shown that Buffer Pels can result in fewer digestive upsets, can increase butterfat test, and can improve milk production. And each of those improvements could add to your income.

Buffer Pels can be top-dressed or mixed, fed to cows on an individual basis at the rate of 2 lbs./cow/day . . . preferably 1 lb. per feeding twice daily.

Give your cows every chance to improve your income. Buffer Pels could improve it several ways.
