Your Clay Systems Dealer . . . Pushbutton Farming Specialist!

Next time you're at the feed mill talking with other dairymen, ask them why they bought the brand of equipment they're using. We think they'll tell you 3 things: Quality Products. Dealer Service, Dealer Know-How. They might not say it just like that, but that's what it boils down to. They bought because they knew the product would last. They bought because they knew that the dealer would be around to help them with service. And they bought because the dealer had the know-how to help them make more money milking cows.

tough, rugged and on-the-farm tested to perform. And our quality equipment is backed up by our dealers—real Clay Dairy and Forage Handling Systems Specialists. Most of them have built their businesses on service and know-how. Most of them attend Factory Dealer Schools yearly to gain more product knowledge . . . and to learn new and better ways of doing things from their Dealer friends. They can show you how others are getting the job done more efficiently and more profitably. They'll show you how you can do it too, on your farm.

That's why Clay Equipment Corp. is so proud of its dealer organization. We know we have the quality equipment most dairymen are looking for. Because Clay equipment is

So, if dairying is your way of life, whether it be stall barn or free stall confinement, systems with milking parlor, give your Clay Dairy or Forage Handling Systems Specialist a call.
