

WHAT'S NEW

HIGH PRESSURE WASHER

A tractor mounted high pressure washer is now available from Specialty Equipment Company of Minneapolis, Minn. The unit is powered by the tractor take-off shaft so there is no need for electricity or running water. It removes caked-on grease and dirt with a blast of water even in hard to reach areas, claims the manufacturer. Equipment options include a high density polyethylene sand tank for wet sandblasting. A special boron-carbide lance features adjustable sand quantity and gives over 2000 hours of useful life.

Waste is minimized by a high pressure, low volume system. The operator controls the amount of detergents, chemicals or solvents being used. Long service life is possible because chemicals are injected downstream and do not pass through the pump. A unique "twist grip" allows the operator to control pressure, up to 2400 p.s.i. The equipment is easy to operate so even a beginner can get results, the company says.

For more information, write Specialty Equipment Company, 7721 Pillsbury Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55423, or phone (612) 861-7491.

PICKUP COVER

There's a convertible pickup cover on the market, called the Push-over, manufactured in Cleveland, Ohio, by Chalfant Sewing Fabricators, Inc.

Extended, the Push-over enclosed the pickup bed up to the height of the cab, serving the purpose of a van or occasional camper. When tall loads have to be carried, it quickly slides out of the way, restoring the pickup to its open "workhorse" role.

Made of heavy-duty vinyl coated nylon, the top mounts over sturdy bows which slide on aluminum tracks—from fully open to completely closed in only 30 seconds. An attractive low profile design enhances the truck's appearance, minimizes wind resistance and permits excellent truck handling. Wide angle rear vision is possible through a large vinyl rear window. All hardware is corrosion-resistant.

Good news to the do-it-yourselfer, installation can be made in one hour, by one person. The manufacturer points out that the only tools needed are an electric drill, screw driver and pliers.

Five models of the Push-over are available to fit any popular-size pickup. Color choices include tan, white, red, gray, yellow, green and blue.
