Junior Angus show deadline is June 1

ST. JOSEPH, MO. - Entry deadline is June 1 for the 1979 National Junior Angus Heifer Show set for July 19-20 in Indianapolis.

Entries must be post-marked by June 1 to be eligible to compete in the 11th annual event. Each youngster must have owned his or her heifer and had it recorded solely in the name of the exhibitor since May 1 in order to enter the show.

The National Heifer Show is expected to attract more than 700 entries from 25 states, and will be held at the Marion County Fairgrounds on the east side of Indianapolis just off I-465. Heifers may be checked in at the fairgrounds as early as noon, July 16, and must be received by noon Wednesday, July 18. Show judge will be Mark Richardson, Sayre Farms, Phelps, N.Y.

The show will be held in conjunction with the National Junior Angus Showmanship Contest. This contest annually attracts some 80 winners of the state showmanship contests, from more than 40 states, who come to compete for the honor of being named national Angus showmanship champion. Each state and Canada may send two winners to the event, sponsored by the American Angus Association.

A number of special attractions are planned for both youngsters and adults who come to the show and showmanship contest. On Wednesday the Angus Association will sponsor bus trips from the fairgrounds to the Indianapolis 500 race track and museum, and race fans may even take a drive around the track itself.

On Wednesday evening the Indiana Junior Angus Association will put on a pit barbecue and that night there will be a mixer and dance for the young people. On Thursday evening there will be pool parties for the young people at both the Holiday Inn and Sheraton Motor Inn, and a hospitality hour for adults at the Sheraton Motor Inn. The show will be at 8 a.m. Thursday, July 19 and preliminaries in the showmanship contest will begin at 2:45 p.m. Finals for the showmanship contest and selection of the grand champion heifer will be on Friday.

All youngsters who enter cattle or that will be in the showmanship contest will receive hotel information. Additional information on hotel accommodations will be available from the Association after June 15.
