menu. To the basic recipe for popular American Stew, other ingredients can quickly be added to create a goulash or Stroganoff or French Burgundy Stew. "Beef Focus" shows restaurateurs how to fix eight different quality entrees from the basic stew.

Other insert topics are devoted to beef buying, storing and cooking; beef's nutritional benefits; and timetables for broiling, braising and roasting. While benefiting the restaurant operator directly, "Beef Focus" is also available to the cattleman. It gives an interesting glance into this rapidly growing foodservice segment - a market where continued beef promotion and creative merchandising keeps product demand strong.

Copies of "Beef Focus" are available from the Meat Board for 30 cents each. Order by writing the Foodservice Dept. of the Meat Board, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

WHAT'S NEW

Farm prices at peak

MOWER-CONDITIONER

The Model 1180 Rotary Mower-Conditioner from Hesston is designed for work in grass hays. It is particularly suited for use in wet or down crops, or in fields infested with fire ant, gopher or crayfish mounds, according to the manufacturer.

Designed for high capacity, the 1180 utilizes two 48 inch diameter counter-rotating stars with five knives each. At 1438 rpm, knife-tip speed is 206 mph, providing excellent cutting in heavy and down crops, says Hesston. Cutting height ranges from one to four inches. Reversible knives are standard. Radial and vertical header flotation assure ground-hugging cutting action.

The 1180 also features a new spoke conditioner for grass hay. After the crop is cut, it is fed butt-first between the counter-rotating cutting stars to the conditioner. There, rubber-cushioned spokes, moving at 800 rpm, "fluff" the crop as it passes through. This fluffing action creates a loose windrow or swath with excellent air movement for faster drying.

Adjustable forming shields deliver crop in operator's choice of narrow, fluffy windrows or swaths up to five feet wide. Other features on this new mower-conditioner include: header lift range of four inches to +16 inches for good clearance of existing windrows and obstacles and 9.5L x 14 tires for excellent flotation in soft fields. Minimum tractor requirement is 50 PTO hp.

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Farm prices may soon peak for the year, says Howard Hjort, chief economist for the United States Department of Agriculture. Overall, meat prices have essentially peaked, says Hjort, but he expects retail beef prices to continue to escalate. He adds they will not drop for two to three years until herds are rebuilt. USDA predicts an eight to 10 per cent increase in overall retail food prices this year.

Jan Carson to address EAYF

EPHRATA - Jan Carson, PAED director of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, will be the guest lecturer next Tuesday at the Ephrata Area Young Farmers' meeting. Mrs. Carson is highly knowledgeable in farm employment matters. She will discuss such issues as workmen's compensation. The meeting begins at 7:45 p.m. at the Ephrata High School's vo-ag room.

Also to be discussed at the meeting is the Summer schedule for the EAYF Association, and various committee reports.
