

Lancaster hog show, sale lists winners

Ezra Good, representing Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, holds the trophy he received for purchasing the champion pen of ten hogs, seen in the foreground. Good also served as judge of the show.

LANCASTER — Grand champion pen of ten hogs at the Lancaster Stockyards market hog show and sale was entered by Stephen S. Stoltzfus, Leola. Consigned by McCoy Cattle Co., the pen of predominately Yorkshires weighed an average of 227 pounds. They had been named first in the mediumweight division.

At the sale following the show, Hatfield Packing Company purchased the hogs at 43.85 per hundredweight.

Reserve champion pen of ten were entered by Myron Rohrer, and the animals were fed under contract with White Oak Feed Mill. Three-way crosses, the hogs brought $42.10 and were sold to Leidy Packing Company, Souderton. They averaged 240 pounds and had placed first in the heavyweight division. They were consigned by Walter M. Dunlap and Sons.

Judge Ezra Good, Hatfield Packing Company, said that the keenest competition in the hog show was seen in the mediumweight class. He added that a better meat type of hog is seen every year in the show.

Amos Zook, Gap, had the second place mediumweight hogs. They weighed 221 pounds and sold for 42.10 to Hatfield. In all, Hatfield bought all but two of the 11 lots of hogs, with Leidy purchasing the remained.

Third place in the mediumweight went to Rutter Farms, Lititz; with David Landis, Lititz, taking fourth. Ervin Burkholder, Denver placed fifth in that class.

In the lightweight division, Eugene Snaveley, Lititz, had the first place hogs. Amos Hoover, Denver, was second; Larry Stauffer, Myerstown, Lebanon County, placed third, and Christ Hess, Lancaster, took fourth place.

In the heavyweights, second place honors went to John Charles, Millersville.

Show chairmen for the sale were Lloyd Hoover, Ed Prosser, and Mel Weaver.
