Aurand named public relations director

LANCASTER - National Central Bank has named Eloise C. Aurand as public relations officer in the marketing division, according to Executive Vice President Donald M. Cooper, who heads the Bank's administrative group.

Aurand, Columbia R1, comes to National Central from Penn State's Milton S. Hershey Medical Center, where she had been publications editor since 1969. She had earlier worked as director of public information and instruction in English at Elizabethtown College and as a staff writer and copy editor with the Lancaster New Era.

A Lancaster native, Aurand is a graduate of McCaskey High School and Penn State University, where she has pursued additional graduate work in journalism.
