

Sheila Miller joins staff

of the 1973 Meats Judging team. She was also an active member of the Block and Bridle Club, and served as corresponding secretary. During the 1973 and 1974 Little International Livestock Expo, she showed an Anglo-Arab colt and an Angus heifer.

Sheila's interest in showing cattle landed her a part-time job after graduation with a Gettysburg farmer, David Simpson. She showed a string of registered Charolais cattle at the 1975 Penna. Farm Show for Great Oaks Farm.

At the present time, Sheila and Mike are in the cattle business in a small way. This summer, they invested in four registered, Polled Hereford cattle, and plan to show their heifer and bull calves at this year's Farm Show.

Along with their cattle, the Miller's have two horses which they ride for pleasure. They are interested in eventually having a driving horse in order to make use of their antique sleighs and buggies. "We became interested in carriages and driving through friends of ours in Berks County," commented Sheila. "Now, we have a top buggy, two sleighs, a two-wheel cart on iron, and loads of driving accessories. If the gas crunch gets too bad, we want to be prepared!"

Sheila also raises Irish Setters as a hobby. "I was given my first Irish Setter while I was still a student at Penn State," she said. This past August, Sheila's second Irish Setter gave birth to nine puppies. "It was my first litter of puppies," laughed Sheila. "On the farm we always had tons of kittens and calves, but never puppies. It was a real experience."

Other activities which

Sheila enjoys include sewing, knitting, needlework and cooking. Farm work, which other folks might find to be a chore, she loves to do. "I've always helped my parents with the farm work, from feeding livestock to cultivating corn. It's hard work, but it's satisfying."

Sheila also said she is looking forward to her career with Lancaster Farming. "I like to write, and this job gives me a chance to work very closely with farm people. It's going to be great."
