

Young Farmer meeting scheduled for Hershey

HERSHEY - Since winning the bid to host the 1981 National Young Farmer Educational Institute in Kansas City, the Pennsylvania Association has been busy making plans for the event which will be attended by 2000 Young Farmers and wives from throughout the U.S.

Hershey Convention Center has been chosen as the site of the event because of its convenience for air travel, its ability to handle large groups, and, most importantly, its proximity to many of Pennsylvania's fine farms which will be shown to the visitors.

The 2500 Pennsylvania State Young Farmers have elected Stanley R. Wolf of Orratanna, Adams County, to be the 1981 National Institute Chairman. Stanley and his wife, LaVaughne, who will be Chairlady for the event, farm a livestock and general farm close to Gettysburg.

Wolf is well-known throughout the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association. He has been a member of the Gettysburg Order for 20 years and has served in most offices of that chapter. He has also served as State Regional Vice-President and State President in 1971.

He attended the National Young Farmer Educational Institute as a Pennsylvania Delegate in 1970, 1971 & 1972.

In 1976, he served as National Secretary for the Institute and as Association Secretary in 1977.

Also elected to four major positions for the '81 Institute are William Homan of Spring Mills, as Education Coordinator; Leroy Geeseman of Fredericksburg as Public Relations Coordinator; Earl Stauffer of Ephrata as Program Coordinator; and, Richard Hoppes of Hamburg as Operations Coordinator.

Also elected were John Roth, Littlestown, as Secretary and Nelson Stoltzfus as Treasurer for the event.

Vernon Leininger of Denver, will serve as Chairman of the Finance Committee whose responsibility is to raise funds to host the event.

There will be twenty other committees sharing responsibilities to make the event a success. These committees will be announced at a later date.

The purposes of the 1981 National Young Farmer Educational Institute are:

To facilitate an exchange of information among young farm leaders.

To strengthen young and adult farmer programs.

To facilitate an exchange of educational ideas and materials.

To enlarge the scope of thought of state and national young leaders.

To develop leadership skills.

To coordinate the activities of state young farmer organizations with the teacher, teacher education, and state vocational agriculture office staffs.

To establish and maintain channels of communications among states through cooperation with teacher organizations, teacher education institutions, and state vocational agriculture office staffs.

To learn from the farms of successful Young Farmers in other states.

To learn from outstanding leaders in the Industry of Agriculture.

Lancaster County's PFA president, Earl Newcomer, R1 Washington Borough. Other members of the award winning committee were Jane Barley, R1 Conestoga; Linda Kreider, R1 Quarryville; and Joan Rohrer, R1 Nottingham.
