

Bridge

Nissley said, "and sometimes as many as four to six times a day."

In addition to the safety factor of moving equipment amidst heavier traffic, Nissley explained that there is the factor of the extra time involved in using the longer routes. This becomes especially important during the busy planting and harvesting periods when time is at a premium and can be critical in farming.

In addition to tractors, trucks and wagons, the farmers used the bridge for the transport of plows, discs and various hay and corn harvesting equipment.

As an alternative to the bridge, Nissley and Becker attempted to use a temporary ford across the creek between their properties. They have transported equipment in this way, but are seeking a more permanent solution either through rebuilding of the bridge or even possibly the construction of a better ford.

The group of farmers have been in continuing contact with officials of four municipalities since the bridge was a county facility, but the access roads are maintained by Conoy Township in Lancaster County and Londonderry Township in Dauphin County.

Beef referendum

turned the proposal down then by lopsided margins.

In Lancaster County 33 producers voted in favor of the Beef referendum. A whopping 388 voted against the program.

A total of 503 farmers were eligible to vote in Lancaster County. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service received 421 ballots. Of those 421, 29 were challenged or post-marked too late to be accepted.

Other county results included:

County	For	Against
Adams	19	155
Berks	17	270
Chester	26	59
Cumberland	21	171
Dauphin	10	84
Franklin	25	298
Lebanon	13	129
Schuylkill	4	36
York	35	164

At that time a two-thirds positive vote was required for passage. While the checkoff program was approved by a majority of those voting nationwide, it failed to gain the two-thirds vote needed to become law.

This year's vote in Maryland closely resembled national trends in the previous referendum.

The current program needs only a simple majority to become reality. Strongest support should come from the major cattle producing states.

Not a single county in Pennsylvania voted in favor of the program.

ASCS officials were handed one report of a positive county vote in Pennsylvania, but the margin was so one-sided in favor of the program that the officials rechecked the count.

Upon investigation they found a clerical error had transposed the results.

State results will be compiled in Washington, D.C. early next week with final tabulation due later in the week.—CH
