Butterick design included a front yoke and stand up collar. Crisp, light-blue poplin slacks completed the casual outfit. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Willapa Drive, Dover, Lisa, 14, is a freshman at Dover and has carried sewing projects in the Davidsburg Club for four years.

Hanover club's Sue Swartz won a length of Pendleton wool last year in an "I made it with wool" contest and saved the brown and beige toned plaid for the skirt and vest of her four-piece suit and blouse creation. A front box pleat and darted waistband detailed the below mid-knee length skirt, while Sue's vest was lined and fitted with a V-neckline, front button closing and slightly cutaway armholes. She topped the set with a semi-fitted jacket, tailored with notched collar, front buttoned closings, patch pockets with shaped flaps, princess seaming and a vent. Completing the outfit was a blouse gathered to the yoke, with a fly front button closing and long set in sleeves gathered to buttoned cuffs. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Swartz of Hanover R2, 17-year-old Sue is a graduate of Southwestern High School and will attend Harrisburg Polytechnic in the Fall to major in radiology.

Kathy Eyster chose a Simplicity style for her A-line skirt and fitted vest of beige wool, complemented with a chocolate brown polyester blouse. Topstitching accented the V-neckline vest with a shaped lower edge and front button closing. A sophomore at Dover High School, Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eyster of Salem Church Road, Dover, and has been a sewing member of the Davidsburg Club for six years.

Seven-year-Hanover club seamstress Dawn Raubenstine's blue cotton-poly denim suit looked crisp and neat for a variety of summer and school activities. She chose a cotton and polyester blue and red seersucker to line the jacket, with a matching blouse of the same plaid. Her slim style skirt was accented with topstitching, a back yoke and vent. Front and back pockets and waistband belt carriers. Detailing on the long-sleeves jacket included the notched collar, with patch pockets and a button front. Dawn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Raubenstine of Hanover. She's 14 and a sophomore at Southwestern High School.

Keeping with the season was LaVon Leppo's summery sundress in a flowered print of linen-type cotton-polyester. The Simplicity design featured a full skirt and side seams, with pockets and a gathered ruffle with piping accent. Lining of the dress was in a light-blue cotton-poly blend. LaVon is 15 and a junior at Southwestern High School, with five years of experience in the Hanover club. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Leppo of East Grange Street in Hanover are her parents.

Three 13-year-old junior seamstresses also earned the chance to compete at the regional sewing revue.

Lori McCarty's pale pink cotton slim dress from a Simplicity pattern featured elastic waistline casing, right side slit and slender shoulder straps which criss-crossed in the back. White appliques accented the stylish dress, complemented with a tie belt. A freshman at Dover with three years sewing experience with the Davidsburg Club, Lori is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McCarty, Oakley Drive, York.

Six-year seamstress Chris Shive of Seven Valleys R1 selected a Butterick design for her dress-up outfit of blue-green terrycloth polyester. A loose-fitting unlined jacket with shawl collar, dropped shoulders and three-quarter roll up sleeves topped the matching dress with shoulder straps, elastic waist and side seam pockets. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shive, Chris is a freshman at Southern High School.

An A-line four-gore skirt and matching vest in a dark wool and polyester plaid, topped with a blazer, was the choice of Theresa McElwain of the Stewartstown club. Theresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McElwain of Stewartstown R3 and a freshman at Kennard Dale. She's been sewing for six years and chose both Simplicity and Butterick styles for her project garment.

Professional judges for the sewing revue were Diane Moyer, Helen Spangler, Cindy Heltzel, and Marry Ellen Schmidt. Circle judges included Mary Marsteller, Marilyn Snodgrass, Sara Eisenhart, Mary Ann Beall, Sandy Feeser, Eleanor Eyster, Anita Breneman, Ann Janney, Janet McElwain, and Joyce Raubenstine. Naomi Bupp was the roundup judge.
