Nat'l Angus Assn. to meet

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Angus breeders from across the United States will head to Louisville, Kentucky, in mid-November for their 97th annual meeting, the National Angus Show and numerous other activities scheduled in conjunction with the North American International Livestock Exposition, reports C.K. Allen, executive vice president of the American Angus Association.

In addition, the agenda includes several national junior and auxiliary events.

Some 310 delegates from 47 states have been elected to represent their home states at the annual meeting, set for 2 p.m. Monday, November 17, at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center. Delegates will cast their votes for an association president, vice president and five directors, in addition to conducting other association business. Only official delegates or alternates may vote, but the meeting is open to all association members and guests.

A new feature of this year's meeting will be two open committee meetings designed to solicit input and ideas from association members. One will be on Angus Herd Improvement Records and sire evaluation, and the other will be on activities and public relations. They'll run from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, November 16, in the Exposition Center, and all Association members are invited.

Competition in the National Angus Show promises to be tough, as breeders have entered some 300 bulls and heifers in hopes of earning a national title.

The female show will get under way at 8 a.m. Monday, November 17, and bulls will be paraded at 9 a.m. the next day. Jake White, Panama, Oklahoma, will make the line ups.

Angus women nationwide will gather for the American

Angus Auxiliary's annual meeting and luncheon, set for noon November 17 at the Exposition Center. An open auxiliary meeting is set for 8 p.m. November 16 at the Executive West Hotel. One highlight of the Auxiliary's activities will be the crowning of the 1981 national Angus queen.

Junior events will include a meeting of the directors of the newly established National Junior Angus Association from noon to 6 p.m. November 16 at the Aberdeen Room, Executive West. Junior heifer show competition will get started at 9:30 a.m. the same day, and Angus heifers will show about 11 a.m.

JAMESWAY® Air Pressure Manure Transfer System

Does hard work for you

Whatever your herd size—50, 150 or more—let air pressure move manure to storage in minutes. It's simple: your gutter cleaner, alley scraper or tractor-scraper, delivers manure "as is" to a steel holding tank. A twist of your wrist then seals the tank; manure agitates and moves to the storage basin, as much as 300 ft. away, for later spreading. No rams, gears, reducers or delays.

See us for systems and service that help make the good life better.
