Bergland to speak at National Grange meeting

LANCASTER — Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland will be guest speaker at the 114th annual session of the National Grange to be held November 10 to 16 in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Bergland will address delegates and members at a

Rural America Luncheon on Friday, November 14 at Stouffer's Five Seasons Hotel. His appearance will be one of the first by a Cabinet officer following the Presidential election.

Ed Andersen, Master of the National Grange, said,

"We will either be extending congratulations or condolences to the Secretary, but regardless of the outcome, we are delighted to have him with us."

This is the first time since 1909 that the Grange has held its national convention in Iowa. Thousands of Mid-Westerners are expected to attend the seven day meeting.

Andersen said Grange delegates will be debating hundreds of resolutions, which originated at the local level, concerning agriculture, energy, transportation, taxation, foreign affairs, education and health. "Heavy emphasis will be on agriculture since a new farm program is due next year," said Andersen.

Other activities during the convention will include announcements of national winners in Grange sponsored contests and the selection of Grange Youth of the Year.

Displays of needlework, arts and crafts will be open to the public from Wednesday, November 12 through Saturday, November 15 at Stouffer's Hotel.
