Inter-State Co-op to meet Tuesday

LANCASTER — Thirty-four-yer-old FORTUNE Associate Editor, Herbert E. Meyer, author of the book, "The War Against Progress", will speak to more than 1000 dairy farmers and guests at the 63rd annual meeting of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, Tuesday, November 11, 1980.

Meyer is heading up a battle in the United States which is unlike any other war we have ever fought. In this war, there are no battleships, no infantry platoons, no bombed out cities or fleeing refugees. It is, however, according to Meyer, a war that most assuredly threatens to destroy our country.

"It is precisely because this war is do different, and so difficult to see, that it is so dangerous," Meyer has said.

Meyer's address will highlight the Tuesday night banquet, part of the two-day meeting of the more than 3000 member dairy cooperative.

Meyer speaks out against the social activities and overzealous environmentalists who are trying to wrap more red tape around the components that have driven our country forward since its beginning - economic growth, technological innovation and scientific research.

He also speaks out against campaigns to stop corporate profits, discourage investors, crush the oil industry and slow down construction.

"High tax rates, staggering government deficits, regulations that fairly strangle our corporations and our universities in red tape, the recent outcry over corporate profits, the general assault of wealth - these too are part of the war against progress."

Meyer, an expert on Russia, and respected commentator on economics, is a member of the Foreign Relations Council. He has spoken on programs with noteables such as Gerald Ford and William Simon. Excerpts from this book have been used by political speechwriters.

Meyer has appeared on radio and television programs, including, most recently, Washington, D.C.'s Panorama, as the other side of the Ralph Nader coin. His book has now been mentioned in publications across the United States including National Review.

MCMP District 6 to meet

NORTH EAST, Md. — Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers will hold its District 6 Annual Membership Drive Meeting Friday, November 21 at Johnnie's Restaurant in North East, Md.

The program, to follow a dinner served at 7 p.m., will consist of reports on national and local milk production and the current status of Holly Milk Plant in Carlisle. In addition, members will be given an update on MCMP's financial condition, including its operating divisions, as well as the current status of the long-range planning commissioned at their 1979 Annual Meeting.

Reports will be given by MCMP president, Herbert W. Wessel of Hampstead, business manager Ralph L. Strock of Towson, and district director John H. Kilby, Sr. of Colora. Field representative for the area is George Tyson of Port Deposit.

District 6 includes 47 member-producers located in New Castle County, Del., Cecil County, Md. and Chester County, Pa. Members in the area have produced more than 25 million pounds of milk in 1980 through the month of September. Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, the largest Maryland-based dairy cooperative, represents more than 1000 dairy farmers.
