and prepare an administrative budget. Members of the Advisory Board would receive expenses plus a per diem payment not to exceed $20 a day while engaged in the performance of board duties. While any advertising or promotion under the program is restricted by law to non-brand efforts, sales promotion material and advertisements may be coordinated with coops or others who desire to conduct their own brand advertising at their own expense.

Administrative budgets to be prepared by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Advisory Board are not to exceed five percent of the gross market value of the milk and dairy products produced in the Commonwealth.

Concerning the collection of the assessment, the Secretary of Agriculture may designate the sales agents of the producers (coops) as the collection agents. The sales agents may enter into agreements with appropriate Federal Order Milk Administrators to establish methods of collection.

Funds collected under the program could be utilized for the non-brand advertising and promotion of milk and dairy products, support of research and development programs designed to benefit producers, establish nutritional education programs and to utilize the services of other organizations to carry out these programs.

Every five years, the Secretary would call a referendum to determine whether two-thirds of producers still desire a program.

Referendums can also be called by the Secretary for producers to vote on amendments proposed by the Advisory Board or at the written request of 10 percent of producers under the program.

The assessment under the proposed program would be separate, but not in addition to current assessments under federal marketing orders for milk.

The draft will be discussed at the Friday session, after which a public meeting will be held to consider the proposal. The referendum among affected milk producers would be held in January.

In addition to the required initial majority approval in a referendum to launch the program, producers would have continuing influence on the program.

The program or parts could be terminated if more than one-third of producers marketing more than half of milk and dairy products request such action.

If 10 percent of producers request termination, the Secretary of Agriculture must conduct a referendum among all producers. If a majority so vote, the
