

One day bear season to run Monday

TOWANDA — Hunters will have a one-day opportunity to take a black bear in 29 Pennsylvania counties on Monday, November 24.

Counties in which bear hunting will be permitted are Bradford, Cameron, Carbon, Centre, Clarion, Clearfield, Clinton, Columbia, Elk, Forest, Huntingdon, Jefferson, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Lycoming, Mckean, Mifflin, Monroe, Pike, Potter, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Toga, Union, Venango, Warren, Wayne and Wyoming.

During last year's one-day bear season, hunters took 736 bears. The figure is an all-time record for a single day, and is the second largest total harvest on record for any year.

This year the Game Commission is unable to predict how many hunters will be afield or how many bears will be taken during the one-day season. Many variables, such as weather, economic conditions, hunting pressure, concentrations of hunters and bears, denning activity, food availability, etc. are involved.

The Pennsylvania bear population is at a high level, and district game protectors in 17 of the 29 counties open to bear hunting this year predict an "excellent" season. The remaining counties open for bear hunting have been rated as "good."

Nuisance and damage complaints are running quite high throughout the primary bear range, and this year's season hopefully will result in cropping of surplus bears. Since there is no special bear hunting license in Pennsylvania, the number of bear hunters, where they hunt and numbers of bears harvested cannot be controlled.

Although game managers feel that the bear population could easily withstand a harvest of 1000 animals this year, there is always the possibility of an overharvest which could possibly produce another closed bear season in 1981.

This year for the first time all bear hunters will be required to wear at least 100 square inches of fluorescent orange material on the head, or on the chest and back combined. A cap contains 100 square inches of material, but all bear hunters are urged to wear both a cap and vest (or coat) of fluorescent orange material.

Game Commission safety officials point out that there was not one single hunting accident during the 1979 bear season, and it is hoped that the fine record will continue this year.

Hunters are required to maintain a roster when five or more persons hunt together as a group or in any manner cooperate with others. Hunting together or cooperating with others is construed to mean actual participation, such as in driving. Simple staying together at a camp does not indicate participation or cooperation.

A hunter may legally take only one bear per year in Pennsylvania, and hunting parties of two or more persons are restricted to one bear per party this year.

Shooting a bear in a den is unlawful.

Each person who kills a bear must, within one hour, and before transporting or moving the carcass in any manner from where it was killed, prepare and attach to the brain a home-made tag on which is recorded the person's name, address, hunting license number, and the time, date and county where killed.

Before any bear lawfully taken may be possessed for more than 24 hours, it must be tagged by a Game Commission officer at an established bear check station. The tag shall remain permanently attached to the head, or until the head has been tanned or mounted.

Dairy feeding session to run Tuesday

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — The dairymen and other livestock growers are the ones that are hardest hit by the grain shortage. They are short on home-grown forages and grains, and will face high prices as they purchase needed feeds.

A dairyman with 100 cows has to provide them with something like two tons of corn or hay silage, 1200 pound of soy hay, and over a ton of grain concentrate every day. If he has to purchase substantial amounts of this, he faces astronomical feed bills this winter.

To help him cope with the situation he faces this season we will be holding a dairy feeding meeting, "Feeding Dairy Cattle...after drought '80," on Tuesday, November 25, beginning at 8 p.m. in Hunterdon's Extension Center, Flemington, N.J. Frank Wright, extension dairy specialist, will be the speaker.

Dairymen will have the opportunity to hear about some of the possible alternatives and be able to ask questions of the expert.

Meeting is open to all.
