You Can Depend On a KNIGHT

manure spreading...

a job that needs doing...usually in a hurry!

You know how manure can pile up in winter when snows run deep or in summer when crops are in the fields. So when the time comes you need a rugged dependable spreader with the capacity to get the job done fast. Knight has spreaders to tackle any size manure spreading chore. All Knight spreaders are worm gear driven, have special corrosion resistant boxes and auger beaters with alloy steel ripper teeth. The optional hydro-fluid endgate assures you'll get that sloppy stuff to the field. Large capacity Knight spreaders can also be truck mounted. These features and many more insure you'll get the job done in a hurry without delay.
