by her father on her expert answer, Heather emphatically said "no". She explained she studied all about the apple long before the contest began.

What are Heather's plans for the future after graduating from Penn State with a degree in microbiology? She said she hopes to get into research, working on plant diseases.

"I want to work with sprays and try to develop new chemicals that will do the job more cheaply — perhaps I'll discover an all-purpose spray by improving on what has already been discovered," she said.

Answering the inevitable question, Heather pondered which apple she enjoys the most and finally selected the Red Delicious. Her favorite way of cooking the fruit is to bake them whole, she smiled.

Selected as first alternate in the contest was Tami Lobaugh of Adams County, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lobaugh. Tami is a freshman at Millersville State College, studying medical technology.

Other contestants included: Shari Carlin of Mercersburg, Franklin County, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Albert; Julie Ann Green of Elysburg, Montour County, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green; Lorraine Hileman of Apollo, Armstrong County, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hileman; Joanne Klantz of North
