

Beiler taking European ag tour

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Daryl L. Beiler, member of the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter, is participating in a 17-day Agricultural Travel Seminar in Europe.

The 19-year-old son of Elam and Nancy Beiler, of Mifflinburg, he is touring France, England, Holland, West Germany and Luxembourg, visiting farms, agribusinesses, agricultural shows and tourist sights.

Beiler was awarded the expense-paid trip for being a winner in swine production in the FFA National Proficiency Award Program.

A highlight of the trip is two days at Salon International de L'Agriculture Show in Paris, the largest agricultural show in the world. Livestock, machinery and food products are exhibited at the show that attracts nearly one million visitors from 80 countries each year. Also in France, the FFA members are visiting a beef fattening farm and nursery and tour Paris, the Verdun battlefield, Versailles Castle and Reims Cathedral.

The tour includes London, the Royal Botanical Gardens, Windsor Castle and a cereal and grass seed experiment station. Two nights and a day are spent with an English Young Farmers Club host family. In Holland, the tour covers Amsterdam, polders that have been reclaimed from the sea for farmland and two nights and a day with Dutch host families.

The FFA members will also tour Frankfurt, Germany, see the Cologne Cathedral and visit a beef farm in Luxembourg.

Upon returning to Washington, D.C., the travel seminar participants will host a breakfast for their Congressmen to share the experiences they had on the International Agricultural Travel Seminar.

Before leaving on European Agricultural Travel Seminar, Daryl L. Beiler, member of Mifflinburg FFA Chapter, talks with Byron Rawls, national advisor of the Future Farmers of America.
