USDA helps Haiti eradicate Swine FeverNEW YORK, N.Y. — Haiti eradicate African
The U.S. Department of swine fever with funds Agriculture will help and technicalassistance, a USDA official announced. The technical assistance will include training and a small number of personnel.Canada and Mexico also are expected to help in the effort, said Harry C. Mussman, administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.The multi-national program to eradicate the disease from Haiti will be operated by the Inter-American Institute for Cooperation in Agriculture, which isassociated with the Organization of American States and sponsored by 26 western hemisphere countries.After eradication of the disease, the organization will work closely with Haitian officials to reestablish a domestic hog industry — free of African swine fever and other swine diseases.African swine fever first invaded the western hemisphere in 1971. That outbreak, in Cuba, resulted in a half-million hogs beingdestroyed, Mussman said. The disease was confirmed in the Dominican Republic and Brazil in 1978 and Haiti in 1979.PUBLIC SALE*VALUABLE GARAGE EQUIPMENT,

Del. net farm income downNEWARK, Del. — Figures are now out on Delaware's 1979 farm income. It probably won't surprise any farmers to learn that higher cash receipts on the farm were nearly canceled out by galloping production costs.Cash receipts for 1979 reached an all-time high of nearly $358 million — 11.5 percent above the1978 record — but actual gross income per farm rose by only 7.7 percent, reports Dr. Raymond C.
Smith, head of the University of Delaware's department of agricultural economics.Thus small increase in gross income was more than offset by a 12.7 percent rise in production costs. This resulted in a drop in netincome per farm of more than 4 percent compared to the year before. Net income per farm in 1979 was $27,765 as compared to $28,957 in 1978.Crops with substantial income changes in 1979 included: corn up 39.6 percent, soybeans up 18.7 percent, wheat up 99.6 percent, mushrooms up 13 percent, and nursery stock up 10 percent. On the other hand, income from snap beans dropped more than 43 percent and for limas was down 32.4 percent.
Livestock with substantial income changes in 1979 included: broilers up 8 percent, dairy products up nearly 11.5 percent, cattle and calves up 38.7 percent, turkeys up 96.5 percent, and eggs up 9.5 percent. Broilers accounted for 55 percent of the cash farm income from all sources.A breakdown of farm income by counties shows that Sussex county accounted for almost three-fourths of Delaware's 1979 farm income, while New Castle accounted for only 8.4 percent.All the figures aren't in yet for 1980, but Smith says drought conditions last summer resulted in substantial reduction in both corn and soybean yields. Average yield per acre of corn in 1980 was only 72 bushels compared to 102 bushels the year before. Soybean yield was 20 bushels compared to a 1979 yield of 30. Projecting ahead from these figures, Smith says that - with farm production expenses undoubtedly higher in 1980 than in 1979 - we can expect Delaware's net farm income to show a substantial decrease for 1980.Smith's analysis of the state farm income is prepared each year as a service of the University of Delaware's Agricultural Experiment Station. Those interested in obtaining the full report should call their county extension office in Newark (738-2506), Dover (736-4675), or Georgetown (856-5250) and ask for a copy of the Experiment Station pamphlet on
"1979 Delaware Farm Income."PUBLIC SALE*Val. Farm Machinery,
