cows' backs. An open ridge cap will help let the hot air escape. If necessary, remove barn siding, open doors and windows, or install a lot of side vents for good cross ventilation.

Provide cows easy access to lots of fresh clean water. Poor quality water will greatly curb intake and curtail milk production. To minimize stress, protect cows from annoying flies and minimize the amount of time cows must stand in hot, crowded holding pens waiting to be milked.

TO CLIP PASTURES

The mowing of permanent pastures at this time of year is strongly suggested. Many of the plants will be heading out and some gone to seed, and this means that the plants should be mowed. This practice will help control weeds and encourage new growth of grass.

Meet your American Banker.

Your American Bankers: Gene Richard, William Hughes

He puts a lot of stock in your farm.

A major challenge to the success of raising livestock is proper money management. That's a challenge your American Banker is proud to accept. Because the people in our Agri-Business Department have farming backgrounds, they understand the everyday financial needs of farmers. So when they come out to see you, they speak your language.

Since the turn of the century, American Bank has had a special kinship with farmers and their land. Over the years we've kept pace with their needs with loans for livestock, new equipment, construction and remodeling. As times and needs changed, we helped with lines of credit and operating capital. Today, we're still maintaining that pace with additional financial services like trusts, retirement and estate planning, and savings and checking accounts.

American Bankers come from farming stock. So it comes as no surprise that we have a lot of pride in the farmers we work for. If you'd like to see us, call our Agri-Business Department at (215) 375-5993. We'll put a lot of stock in your ideas.
