Today's Poultry Economy Demands DeKalb's Efficiency Expert: The DK Layer

Mrs. Ramona Fink
Heidel Hollow Farm
Slatington, PA

28,000 DeKalb Layers

Mrs. Fink explains to Moyer's Chicks, Inc. representative, Harold Mishler why she's pleased with the DK Layer: "I'm looking for the best bottom line bird I can get. Three important economic "edges" this bird gives me are: (1) early production with good sizing (means lower pullet cost til they start paying their way) (2) excellent liveability and quiet temperament (less than 1/2 per cent per period means more eggs per hen housed) (3) excellent shell and interior quality.

I also appreciate Moyer's service personnel whose interest doesn't stop just with the sale. I'm pleased to say I've asked Moyer's to grow me DK replacement pullets for my second layer house."

If you'd like to hear more about the DK and see some actual local records give us a call.
