

Farmland Preservation ~ It's worth it

Leesport, Berks County

This is another in a series of scenic photos of Pennsylvania farmland, as it appears today. And hopefully, as it will continue to appear tomorrow and beyond.

Tell us about your favorite scenic farmland spot

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN
LANCASTER — Do you have a favorite scenic farmland spot? Perhaps, it's on your farm, a neighbor's or a spot you pass on the way to town. If you know of such a spot, let us know about it. We'd like to include it in our "Farmland Preservation" photo series. Just drop us a letter or postcard, giving the location and brief directions on how to find it.

Send the information to:

Lancaster Farming photographers travel far and wide and the next time we're in the area, we'll photograph the scene. Of course, that might be tomorrow, next week or next month. We don't know for sure. But let us know and we'll try to work it into our news and photo coverage schedule as quickly as we can. Also, if you're a photo bug, we'd be glad to consider running a photo you've taken. Just send it to us and we'll return it later. Preferably, it should be a black and white photo, at least of 5X7 size. Remember, we're primarily interested in the land itself — not necessarily people and livestock. Photos similar to those you've been seeing in the series. We're trying to show representative photos from many sections of the widespread Lancaster Farming circulation area showing this greatest of natural resources — our productive agricultural land. We're showing this land as it appears today. And hopefully, as the caption says, as it will continue to appear tomorrow and beyond. The photos are a weekly reminder of what we have. And a weekly reminder of what must be preserved so that we have it tomorrow, too. So get in touch with us and become a part of this effort so that future generations don't have to page through old issues of Lancaster Farming to see how farmland once looked.
