KUTZTOWN — This year Kutztown Fair had four goat breeds and thirteen youths competing in goat type, showmanship and fitting.

One exhibitor was sixteen-year-old Debbie Price of Douglasville, who also exhibited Guernseys during the dairy cattle show. Debbie proved she knows her goats as well as cows, going home with Champion Alpine, Junior Champion Nubian, and Reserve Champion Nubian honors. With only two years experience, Debbie was selected as reserve champion showman, topped only by Joe Flock of Leesport.

Debbie is an eleventh grade student in the Daniel Boone School District, who became interested in goats "just because I liked them." Presently, she has ten goats which she milks.

The results of the showmanship and fitting classes and champions of the various breeds are:
