

Solanco tractor champ

Les Hershey, 21, of R1 Kirkwood, shows his winning form in capturing the champion tractor driving at the Solanco Fair on Thursday. Dwayne Peifer finished second in the open competition and Bob Work was third. The top three FFA placers were Randy Graver, first; Ted Ayers, second; and Scott Brinton, third.

YOU DON'T WALK BEHIND THIS SILAGE CART. YOU RIDE IT.

When you use a silage cart, you want it to work. In the morning. In the evening. Every day, seven days a week. But the more chains and sprockets and belts and beaters and ratchets on your silage cart, the more chance of failure when you need it.

That's why you'll want to look at the new silage cart from US Farm Systems of Pennsylvania to experience the convenience of mechanical feeding. Or when you need a second feed cart because your herd expanded.

This new silage cart uses a hydraulic system run by a Honda gas engine to power-unload and self-propel the unit. You don't walk behind this silage cart. You ride it. And you feed a row of cows or heifers as fast as you want to move. From either side.

To operate this advanced-design machine, you press down on the controls. The more you press, the faster the silage cart works. Forward and backward to deliver a steady, even flow of silage. Use the large steering wheel to turn the cart in it's own tracks. Maneuver in and out of small corners.

Because of a special unloading design that uses a circular kick wheel instead of augers and beaters, you get more positive unloading and a greater use of the cart's full-load capacity. Up to 20 percent more usable capacity over the same size box on competitive models. Available in 35, 50 and 75 bushel sizes.

So don't walk behind your silage cart any longer. Ride this new US Farm Systems silage cart. For more information and prices, write to US Farm Systems of Pennsylvania, 3053 Barren Road, Oxford, PA 19363. Or phone: (301) 398-2948.

SPECIAL NOTE: Demonstrations of manure equipment, bedding choppers and silage carts are scheduled daily on farms across Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and New York. Call or write to US Farm Systems of Pennsylvania for times and places.
