

Kid's Korner

We've picked lots of winners!

LANCASTER — And the winner is... well, the three winners are: Katie Stoltzfus, 12, of Honey Brook in the Most Appropriate category; Christie Fisher, 9, of Quarryville in the Most Comical category; and Emanuel Glick, 8, of Lancaster in the Most Original category.

Kids, it was a tough decision — you're all very clever at writing cutlines according to Judge Jennifer Shenk, news editor of the Litz Record Express. And we can trust her judgement. After all, she judged an Easter bunny coloring contest last spring!

But after shuffling and reshuffling through over 60 entries, Ms. Shenk, with a weary look and half smile on her face finally named the three winners.

The Most Appropriate cutline, by Katie, reads, "I love you. I will give you all the milk I can when I grow up."

Another winner, Emanuel Glick won in the Most Original category for his cutline: "Let's grow up fast, then you'll be the farmer and I'll be your cow!"

Well, Emanuel, you've got it right, Bradley and the calf will more than likely grow up very fast.

Cristie Fisher wrote the Most Comical cutline and perhaps one of the most touching because she will probably trigger lots of childhood memories for many adults who remember their feed grinder and their milk truck driver toting gum and lollipops — and we all know that all good feed grinders and milk truck drivers tote goodies!

Cristie's cutline reads, "Does our feedman give calf lollipops?"

Congratulations Cristie, Emanuel and Katie — you've all won a prize which this minute is in the mail to you. We hope you enjoy puzzles and little surprises.

And for the rest of you who didn't quite make it into the final three — don't fret, because you too are a winner. We had such a good response to this contest that we decided to send you all a little surprise, so enjoy and look for future contests in Kid's Korner!

Some others you may enjoy are:

"I love you, Bradley. I will give you all the milk I can when I grow up."

— Katie Stoltzfus, Honeybrook.

"Ask your daddy how long till feeding time, I'm getting hungry."

Merlin Wenger, Manheim

"Are you going to use me for hamburgers when I grow up?"

Linda Noll, Harrisburg

"Let's sneak a stroll through the woods so we know how it feels to be free!"

Eva Miller, Leola

"Do you have any moo-sic (music)."

Ben Cruzan, Bridgeton, N.J.

"Won't you please let me out?"

Daniel Miller, Leola

"Let's be barnyard buddies."

Lynn Krick, Lenhartsville

"Drink plenty of milk. Then you will get big like your daddy, because milk's the one."

Charlotte Landis, Ronks

"Where's my mommy?"

Anna Fisher, Quarryville

"Little boy the calf back of you is sticking its tongue out at you."

Timmy Warner, New Park

"I have something with that girl calf over there. What I really mean is that, I have an appointment with her today. So would you move over please?"

Michelle Deibert, Hegin

"I love you, dear."

Marlene Horning, Lebanon

"I love you. Come play with me."

Stevie Esh, Honey Brook

"I'm hungry. Please give me some milk if my master won't."

Amos Miller, Leola

"Hi cutie, can you and I sit out the next one?"

Bradley Allsopp, Summerhill

"Go ask my mom if I can have some more milk!"

Pam Moyer, Woodbury

"When is your birthday?"

Julia Martin, Newmanstown

"You better drink your milk to get big and strong!"

Thelma Martin, Newmanstown

"Hey cutie!"

Todd Krick, Lenhartsville

"I am hungry for some calf starter."

Grace Brubaker, Loysville

"Bradley, say thanks to your daddy for the good milk."

Cynthia Landis, Ronks

"If you come again without some milk, I'll tell grandma to come without candy the next time that she comes."

Barbara Miller, Leola

"Pssst, tender ears, milk's the one."

Chris Martin, Reinholds

"Close the door behind you. What do you think this is, a barn?"

Carolyn McCann, Perkiomenville

"Did you know that milk drinkers make better lovers?"

Heather Welk, Lancaster

"Did you know milk is the soft, soft drink?"

Jeffrey Welk, Lancaster

"I'm looking for my mom. Do you know where she is?"

Jackie Welk, Lancaster

"What's your big hurry? Stay a while, let's talk."

Ricky Welk, Lancaster

"I wish I was as cute as you are."

Samuel Zook, Quarryville

"You're as cute as I am."

Benuel King, Quarryville